ICE SURVIVOR'S STORY OF 7 DAY FIGHT FOR LIFE

Bested Cold, Hunger and Despair.

The Tribune presents herewith a personal story by Lewis Sweet, telling of his week's fight for life being carried out on Lake Michigan on an ice floe. Sweet, with two companions, was fishing through holes cut in the ice when the wind broke the ice near shore. Two stepped, but Sweet was cut off from land. He had no boat, as the three had walked over the frozen straits of Mackinac to their fishing shanties built on the ice.

BY LEWIS SWEET.
Pittsford, Mich., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The storm seemed to have hit where I was fishing through the ice of the straits at about 1:30 o'clock Jan. 27, and within an hour there was a howling blizzard raging. In the meantime I had started to follow Walter Scott and Chester Lee, my partners, to our camp on Crane Island. I had gone about four rods when I came to a small widening crack. I thought I could see narrower ones on both sides of me, but ran as fast as I could, I could not reach them before they had widened to about ten feet, too far for me to jump. I then turned about and started forward what seemed to be the spot where the ice where our fishing shanties were located. The storm was quite bad then and I could not find them. I believe they split to pieces and were sunk.

Deciding that about the only thing left to save my life was to get toward the center of the ice field, I started back toward the open lake. I built my first snow fence about ten rods from the edge, but it only lasted me about an hour.

Has to Leap for Life.
Then I glanced up and noticed a crack widening right toward me. I was able to leap that crack and went on about 40 rods and built another snow fence, using slabs of snow crust, which I cut with my ax. I cut pieces four feet long and stood them on end in a wind break. Hardly another hour had passed until I was again forced out. A third time I tried for protection, going out another forty rods. This one lasted me during the night.

I watched my ice field drift down toward the Ile Aux Galets light, then back toward Crane Island again. I hoped it would ground on Crane Island, but the wind shifted and it was carried out into the Straits of Mackinac. I spent the hours running about trying to keep warm, beating my hands and arms together, stamping my feet, then resting down behind the snow fence out of the wind.

Crashes Into Lighthouse.
At about 6:30 o'clock in the morning I felt the ice jar and knew it had hit something solid. I looked up and saw White Shoals light. The light was still flashing, the supply of gas in the fall not having been burned out. I had been on the moving ice field in the terrible blizzard over sixteen hours.

When the ice hit, it began billowing up on the stone pier, and shooting back toward me. I ran onto the field one time 35 feet to escape flying chunks of ice. The ice piled up about five feet high all around the lighthouse and finally stopped its mighty moving.

I crawled over the top of one of the piles, believing I was only a few feet from the lighthouse, but found I was 18 rods away. It took me an hour to crawl over the drifts to the pier. I searched for the steel ladder leading up 22 feet to the top of the pier, and found it entangled in the ice.

Ice Drifts from Under Him.
I chopped and then chopped some more trying to cut steps up the side of the ice to reach the lighthouse. Before I had succeeded in reaching the top my ice field swerved about and drifted out into the lake, leaving me hanging on to the free rung of the ladder and an icy step between myself and the water.

My mittens were so frozen that they stuck fast to my flesh, but I had to keep on chopping. There is where I froze my hands first; my feet, too. I had to hang onto that edge for dear life. It took me about three hours to cut up to the last three rungs. I did not have strength to finish the task and had to drop back nearly to the bottom. I then worked for hours cutting steps up another way and finally cut out twelve steps, up which I climbed to safety.

FIND SANITARY DIST. BOND FUND SHORT 3 MILLION

Audit Reveals Cash Used Elsewhere.

The audit of the sanitary district accounts is completed and will show a diversion of approximately $3,000,000 from the bond fund into the fund for ordinary expenditures. This was announced yesterday by the special prosecuting staff of First Assistant State Attorney Frank J. Loesch. The audit, except for a few minor legal points, is ready for submission to the committee of citizens to be appointed by President Howard W. Elmore of the district.

Diversion of money from the bond fund under a strict interpretation of the law is illegal, it was pointed out by the prosecutors. Under chapter 42, paragraph 326 of Smith-Hurd statutes, it is specifically stated that funds derived from bonds shall be used "solely" for the purpose stated in the bonds.

Officials Are Liable.
The malfeasance statute makes any official or officials liable under the criminal law who shall divert any public money from the purpose for which it was intended. The punishment is removal from office or a fine not to exceed $10,000, or both.

The $3,000,000 diversion is offset by a judgment against the city in favor of the sanitary district for $3,500,000 for electricity.

Whether the diverted funds were used to pay the 4,800 employees who were loaded on the pre-election pay rolls under the regime of former President Timothy J. Crowe could not be ascertained by the auditors. This is due to the fact that all the funds, bond and corporate, were placed in one pot and the money spent for all purposes as it was needed. The audit did determine, however, that most of the diversion occurred during 1925—the last year of the Crowe regime.

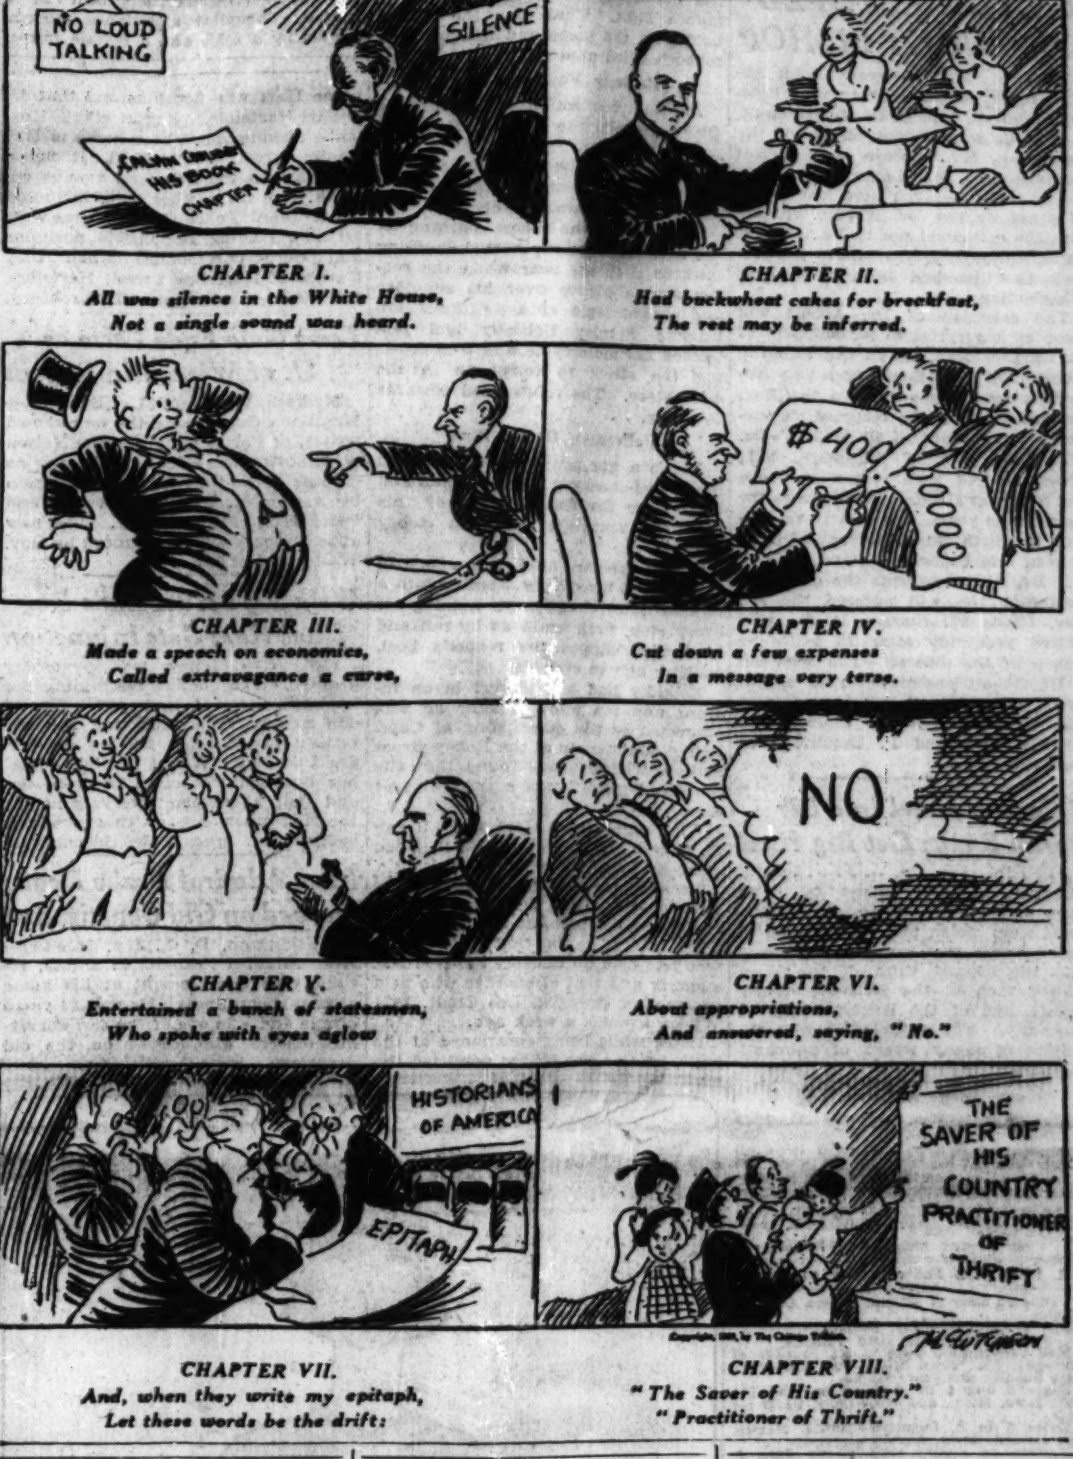

Reed Cutler Before Jury.
The other important development in the sanitary district inquiry yesterday was the questioning for more than two hours of Representative Reed Cutler of Lewiston, for two terms the floor leader of the assembly.

The topic of special interest to the jurors and Special Assistant State's Attorneys David Stangor and Thomas Slusner was the admission by Cutler that he represented clients with claims against the sanitary district in one tribunal while he appeared in another as the legal representative of the cook county taxpayers.

Cutler, floor leader while Len Small was governor, admitted being a district pay roller from late in 1925 to the fall of 1928. During that period he was paid $416.66 monthly to represent the district in lawsuits in downstate counties as a result of the flood claims along the Illinois river banks.

Represents Two Farmers.
During this time Cutler admitted appearing before the Illinois valley claims commission representing two farmers from his district and making settlements for $2,500 and $1,500. The ethics of the situation was the subject of many questions propounded by the jurors and prosecutors, it was reported.

Oust 3 Childs Officers; Fight for Proxies On

New York, Jan. 30.—[Special.]—A battle for proxies similar to the Stewart-Rockefeller clash in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana appeared imminent today in the Childs company, with assets of $57,000,000 and operating 125 restaurants throughout the country.

Today's development was the summary dismissal of three of the company's executive officers and their replacement by members of the immediate family of William Childs, founder and chairman of the board. The officers were discharged by the directors in a sudden move which returned the Childs family to power after a year of dissension over "meatless menus" sponsored by Mr. Childs, and over the company's lower profits, which a minority group ascribed to Mr. Childs' espousal of vegetarianism.

Detectives Guard Offices.
The officers discharged were S. Willard Smith, president, who had been connected with the Childs company for more than 25 years, L. E. Russell, secretary and treasurer, and William A. Barbz, the company's general counsel.

A squad of private detectives guarded the company's offices at 200 Fifth avenue tonight to prevent any tampering with the company's records. In explaining the board's unexpected action, Mr. Childs indicated that his chief adversary in the battle for management of the company was Mr. Barbz.

Science Repulses Locust Swarms with Flame Guns
JERUSALEM, Jan. 30.—(AP)—There was a sharp engagement on both sides of the River Jordan Monday between modern science and swarms of locusts. The insects suffered heavy casualties. About 200 men with 40 flame guns destroyed about 25 per cent of the invaders. The remainder of the swarms are moving northward.

Trapped When Roof Caves at Laundry Fire

One fireman was fatally injured and five others hurt, one of them seriously, early this morning when they were caught under a falling wall and roof while battling flames in the South Shore Wet Wash Laundry, 7391 South Chicago avenue. The injured men were dragged from the mass of bricks and splintered timber by other firemen and rushed to hospitals.

John J. Carey, 33 years old, of 8839 Princeton avenue, a policeman attached to Squad 8, suffered a fractured skull. He was taken to Jackson Park hospital, where he died shortly before 6 o'clock this morning. Timothy Donohue, 3225 Euclid avenue, also of the same squad, is at the same hospital with a fractured skull. He is a son of Capt. John Donohue of Engine company 29. It is feared his injuries may be fatal.

Those less seriously hurt are Lieut. Daniel Lyons, 7239 Calumet avenue, Squad 8; Joseph Reidy, 616 West 44th street; Lieut. James Gormley, 3630 South Hamilton avenue, and Joseph Shanksan, 1237 West 78th street. The last three are members of Engine company 31.

The flames were in the rear of the two story brick structure, and the offices of the concern, which are on the South Chicago avenue side, were not damaged. Flames were bursting from the second story windows when the first firemen arrived, and a 4-11 alarm was sent in. After an hour and a half the fire was brought under control. Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan estimated the loss at $50,000 to $75,000.

Girl Pilot, 17, in Open Plane, Breaks Record

New York, Thursday, Jan. 31.—[Special.]—Ellenor Smith, 17 year old pilot, broke the previous world's endurance record for women by 1 hour and 5 minutes when she brought her plane to a landing at 3:23:55 this (Thursday) morning. She had been in the air 12 hours and 16 minutes. The previous record was 12 hours and 11 minutes. It was necessary to surpass it by one hour in order to establish a new record.

The youthful girl flyer accomplished her feat in an open cockpit machine and in the face of a bitterly cold north-west wind. She fired a Very light a few moments before her landing, warning the knot of watchers below that she was about to come down. The floodlights at the field were turned on instantly.

Flies 30 Horse Power Plane.
She took off at 2:17 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a two-place Branner-Winkle biplane powered with a 92 horse power Connors carrying, 115 gallons of gasoline.

Early yesterday Miss Smith thought that she might have to postpone her flight. Her father, Tom Smith, who also is a pilot, had asked her to put off the attempt until the high winds and cold had abated. The girl, however, without notifying him, hurried out to Curtiss field and flew her plane across to Mitchell field.

Wears Mask Against Cold

There the final gallons of fuel were loaded. Harry Booth, engineer at Roosevelt field, placed a barograph in the plane to make the flight official, and, clad in the heaviest of flying garments, Miss Smith climbed in. In addition to her helmet and goggles, she wore a mask to protect her cheeks from the bitter weather. She carried a pint of beer and another of coffee, but no solid food.

Widow Hears Evidence

The police arrested Michael Smolinaki, Frank Giedras, and Joseph Zukowski, and the trio went to trial last Monday. Mrs. Masek sat quietly through the two days of testimony. She saw three eye witnesses take the stand and point out each of the defendants as the robbers, and describe the action of the holdup. Smolinaki, they agreed, was the actual slayer. Assistant State's Attorney Charles Bellows in his closing argument demanded that Smolinaki and Giedras be electrocuted. Zukowski, who, according to the state's evidence, was the lookout, should be given life imprisonment, the prosecutor argued.

ALDERMEN ADD 250 MEN NOW; 500 ON JULY 1

Plea for 1,000 Lost, O'Toole Fights On.

Police Commissioner William F. Russell yesterday gave authorization by the city council to add 250 men to his department immediately and another 500 on July 1. The council voted unanimously to accept the majority report of its finance committee, providing this increase, after hearing verbal tills during which proponents of the minority report fought to increase the force by 1,000 men immediately. The minority resolution was introduced by a group of committee-men led by Ald. William R. O'Toole (14th).

Six aldermen spoke in defense of the minority report and eight more came to their aid when the roll call was taken on the motion to lay this report on the table. Against them was arrayed the remainder of the council, with the exception of one alderman and the two seats which are unoccupied. Rather than oppose any additions to the police department, the minority forces, after their report had been tabled, voted with the others to add 750 men.

Outlying Wards Ask Protection.
Aldermen from the outlying wards were among those who argued for 1,000 men. They pictured their districts as the worst lighted in the city, with large and lonely prairie regions and thousands of residents protected by a single policeman after midnight. They declared that women are afraid to leave their homes at night and that the city should be ashamed to have 5,000 boys in safety patrols doing the work of the police.

As soon as Mayor Thompson signs the ordinance appropriating the money, the additional 250 men will be added to the force. Commissioner Russell stated. He expressed his gratitude for receiving the 750 increase but repeated that the force needs more men than that. His letter to the mayor and city council, read in the meeting, stated that he could use as many as 2,000 more policemen at the present time.

Russell Has Men Ready.
"The 250 men will be put into the training school as soon as the ordinance goes into effect," said Commissioner Russell. "They will be put into uniform and on the streets as crime prevention. There are that many names on the civil service list now, and they will be notified to appear for examination."

"While I'm grateful for the council's action in giving me the number that they did, I am still firm in my contention that we need 1,000 police immediately and the same number additional in each of the next four years."

Vote on Minority Report.
Those who voted against tabling the O'Toole minority report were:

condition, others declared that some of the aldermen wanted any available money for other departments regardless of police needs.

McDonough Says Dry Law.

The need for more policemen was indirectly held to the prohibition law by Ald. McDonough. Much of the crime here, he said, can be charged against prohibition and the fact that Chicago does not add more men to its force while other cities are driving out their criminals.

"What has become of the prophet who told the people nine years ago that we wouldn't need any police force, judges, or jails after prohibition came into force?" asked Ald. McDonough. "What has become of the prophet who said that there would be no crime in the prohibition city?"

"We don't hear from him now. Why? Because the county jail is filled, the insane asylums are filled, the police docks are crowded, and the promised decrease in crime has been a large increase instead. I blame it all on prohibition."

Clark Defends Action.

In support of the majority report Ald. Clark, chairman of the finance committee, said he thought that the committee had gone as far as it could by providing the 750 men. The council would over appropriate by $500,000 if it provided for 1,000 men instead of 750, he said. He added that the street department appropriation was cut by $1,000,000 in the 1928 budget and that there are no appropriations for street lights or for stop and go lights.

"The only difference between the two reports," Ald. O'Toole answered, "is that mine provides for 250 more men and only in case that revenues are obtainable. We want to be in a position to add the men needed by the police commissioner should the necessary funds become available."

"The money for the 750 men is based on the assumption that there will be an increase in the property valuations through the reassessment. The same assumption could be made for the basis of adding 1,000 men."

750 Not Enough—Adams.

"The addition of 750 men is not sufficient," declared Ald. Max Adams, who, with Ald. Cronson, signed the minority report. "They will be divided between 25 police districts and then into three shifts. Since we had added to the force, the population of the city has increased by 750,000. The basis for the 750 is on the assumption that the valuations will be increased by $100,000,000. Our assumption of $150,000,000 increase is just as practical. Had the chairman seen fit to include the minority report, we would have been in harmony and the 750 report would have passed with 250 more provisionally."

"It is impossible to cope with crime without policemen in uniform, Ald. T. J. Bowler said. He pointed out that after 6 p. m. in his ward one policeman travels a beat from California avenue to 85th street. The Chicago crime situation has made the city laughing stock of the United States, he declared.

Points to Auto Death Toll.

"Men, women, and children are being slaughtered on the streets by drunken and careless drivers," said Ald. Bowler. "We have the best traffic ordinances in the country but no police to enforce them. The 6,000 boys in the safety patrol remain out in the cold to help the school children across the streets. Chicago should be ashamed of itself for allowing boys to do the work of the police."

"The claim that there is no money for additional police was labeled 'junk' by Ald. Toman. "I have heard that claim for 16 years and we are still functioning," he said. "My people want 1,000 more police."

MRS. M'CORMICK IMPUTED A CZAR BY MRS. O'NEILL

Tiff of Women Leaders Worries G. O. P.

[By Associated Press Staff Writers.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30. — (AP) — Open warfare against the "czardom" of Ruth Hanna McCormick, Illinois' first congresswoman elect, was declared tonight by Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, Illinois' first woman state representative.

Denying any personal feeling, and declaring that perhaps her move would be regarded as poor politics, Mrs. O'Neill tonight resigned her vice presidency of the Illinois Republican Women's club and issued the first call to the "rank and file of Republican women," who she said were "her folks," align themselves against what she characterized as the "bossism of Mark Hanna's daughter."

Administration Republicans were perturbed tonight over the development. It broke into the open when Speaker Shanahan refused to name Mrs. O'Neill chairman of the house committee on education and offered her instead three inferior chairmanships.

In an attempt to heal the threatening breach, Gov. Emmerson secured the offer for her of the chairmanship of the water ways committee.

Declines "Any Chairmanship."

"I'll take no chairmanship at all," Mrs. O'Neill told both. "The hand of Ruth Hanna McCormick has balked me at every possible turn, and not only me but every other woman in the party with leadership possibilities. Her personal ambition for power brooks no interference. She has no world against me, but I am not Mark Hanna's daughter, with his desire to boss."

"I have served four terms," Mrs. O'Neill said, "and deserved the recognition sought for me. Republican women of Illinois have followed the leadership of Mrs. McCormick. She dictated by telephone from Washington the treatment accorded me in my own senatorial district. One of her lieutenants is in Du Page county now with a promised list of patronage. Jobs have been offered and turned down flatly."

Wants Women to Know.

"I will be reproached for speaking openly. Some will say I am self-seeking, and that I am acting at the behest of Senator Deneen. The senator doesn't know what I am doing and I cannot say that he would approve. I know what is going on and I want Illinois women to know. Maybe I don't play good politics, but I am not going to stand by and see Mrs. McCormick play politics at the expense of Illinois women."

"She is brilliant, compelling, of social prestige, and of great wealth. My followers are of the rank and file, even of her own organization, the Illinois Women's Republican club, from which I am resigning."

Broke at Kansas City.

"We broke in Kansas City when she endorsed and put through Mrs. Bertha Baur of Chicago as national Republican committeewoman. I had advised her the committee was 'dry' and that Mrs. Baur had campaigned on a beer wagon."

"Republican women hoped for a cabinet position in the President's cabinet this year. Mrs. Hert of Kentucky was one of their outstanding candidates for such an honor. Mark Hanna's daughter went into Kentucky and told them: 'No, no. It will be ten years yet before women are ready for such a distinction.'"

ST. CHRYSOSTOM RECTOR ELECTED KENTUCKY BISHOP

The Rev. Henry Pryor Abbott, rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, 1424 Dearborn parkway, last night was elected bishop of the Lexington, Ky., diocese at a synodical meeting in Lexington, according to word received here last night.

Whether or not Dr. Abbott will accept the call could not be learned last night, although it was said the rectory that he had been notified of the election.

The selection of Dr. Abbott will come as a surprise to parishioners of St. Chrysostom's, as he came to the fashionable gold coast church only two months ago. He succeeded the Rev. Norman Hutton, who resigned his pastorate on account of ill health. Dr. Abbott came from Baltimore, Md., where he had been rector of Grace and St. Peter's Episcopal churches for nearly nine years. He is a Nova Scotian by birth, and was educated in Canada and Oxford, England.

If Dr. Abbott accepts the call from Lexington, he will succeed the Rev. Lewis W. Burton, D. D., who retired yesterday after 32 years as bishop of the diocese. The selection of Dr. Abbott was made on the eighth ballot, after the field of candidates had narrowed down to himself and the Rev. Edmund P. Dandridge of Nashville, Tenn.

CAPTURE BANDIT IN THIRD HOLDUP AT DEATH SCENE

Prisoner Is Identified in Former Robberies.

Into William C. Sullivan's drug store at 2000 Addison street at 11 o'clock last night walked a neatly dressed man about 24 years old, gripping what appeared to be a pistol in his right hand.

"Don't fool with me, boy—I've been here before," he snarled at the youthful clerk, James E. Olson, alone in the place.

"Don't shoot," gulped Olson, his fingers trembling on the counter. There was cause for his fright—his previous employer, Charles Emmert, had been shot to death late one night last November while resisting a robber who had commanded him to turn out the lights and open the safe by match light. That was the second holdup of the place and this was the robber's third appearance.

Repeats Former Order.

As the recollection raced through Olson's head, the man before him barked an order.

"Switch out the lights," he cried. "Then get down at that safe. You've got just 20 minutes to open it."

The clerk, who knew nothing of the safe combination, started shuffling towards it in the rear when the robber shot a glance over his shoulder and caught sight of a uniform. Policeman Stanley Bobosky had just parked his motorcycle and was crossing the street to telephone in the drug store. The robber fled towards the door.

Policeman Opens Fire.

"He's a gunman; get him!" yelled Olson as Bobosky pulled his pistol and went after the fugitive who by this time was sprinting north on Robey street.

The policeman fired two shots in the air and his quarry wheeled into a lighted alley. Bobosky, gaining at every step, fired again as he ran and his bullet clipped the robber's heel, causing him to stumble.

Bobosky had him pinned in an instant and ten minutes later he was subjected to the questioning of Capt. Alfred Christensen at the Robey street station, where it was found that the robber's "pistol" was a trick cigarette case.

"My name is Al Hart and I'll say no more if I have to burn for it in the electric chair," he said.

Records on the druggist's murder were produced and the description of the slayer compared to the prisoner's. They tallied, as did that of a robber who had held up Emmert for $100 last summer and that of another who held up another druggist, Leo Zindt, 1971 Wilson avenue, a week ago.

Later while being questioned at the police station the robber admitted the

MRS. DALLETT WILSON SENT TO A HOSPITAL TO AWAIT SENTENCE

New York, Jan. 30. — (Special.) — Mrs. Esther Evans Wilson was taken to Bellevue hospital this afternoon for observation in the psychopathic ward before her sentence for second degree assault in connection with shooting her lawyer-husband, Dallett H. Wilson, last March.

The order committing her to Bellevue was signed by Judge Charles C. Nott of General Sessions, who is to sentence her.

She was to have been sentenced yesterday, but Judge Nott has been confined to his home by illness. Over the telephone he explained, this afternoon, that he ordered the former big game huntress and Washington society woman sent to Bellevue so that when he is able to resume his duties he will have the opinion of expert psychiatrists to guide him in sentencing her.

He has received many letters concerning her mental condition from persons who know her well, Judge Nott said, and these persuaded him to order the observation. He will not be back on the bench for at least two weeks, he said.

Mrs. Wilson was taken from Jefferson Market women's prison in a Bellevue hospital ambulance, accompanied by a male and a female nurse.

Chicagoans Pay 2 1/2 Times More in Taxes than in 1917

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30. — (Special.) — Chicago taxpayers paid more than two and one-half times as much per capita in city, county, school, park, sanitary district and state taxes in 1927 as they did in 1917, according to a compilation made public today by the department of commerce. The per capita tax paid in 1927 was $67.15—an increase of $9.45 over the 1926 rate and a little less than three times the 1917 per capita payment of $22.34.

The department's statistics cover the fiscal year ended on Dec. 31, 1927, and in order to put Chicago on a basis comparable with other cities in which county, park and other municipal organizations are merged with the city corporation it was necessary to include 91.1 per cent of the transactions of Cook county, all of the Chicago board of education's activities, those of the various park districts, and 92.5 per cent of the sanitary district's transactions.

Figures in Detail.

Using the city's 1927 estimated population, 3,102,309, as the basis, the department found that payments for operation and maintenance of general departments amounted to $140,762,531, or $45.37 per capita. This latter rate represented an increase of $3.21 over the 1926 per capita and $23.11 over the 1917 rate of $22.34. Among other payments shown were $7,061,090 for the operation of various public service enterprises, such as waterworks, electric light system, markets, docks and piers, interest on debt, $13,682,740, and outlays for permanent improvements, including those for public service enterprises, $127,235,380. The total payments for operation of general departments, for interest and outlays including county, schools, parks, forest preserve districts, and the sanitary district, aggregated $238,751,731.

The total revenue receipts, including the county, schools, parks, forest preserve district, and sanitary district, were $240,628,774, or $77.55 per capita. The receipts exceeded payments, exclusive of payments for permanent improvements, by $79,112,427. The revenue receipts in the total included $19,018,844 by the county, $49,183,681 by the schools, $16,645,143 by the parks, $2,784,451 by the forest preserve district, and $11,948,084 by the sanitary district.

Property taxes represented 65.9 per cent of the total revenue for 1927, 64.1 per cent for 1926, and 66.5 per cent for 1917. The increase in the amount of property taxes collected was 158.3 per cent from 1917 to 1923 and 5.3 per cent from 1926 to 1927. The per capita property taxes were $51.68 in 1927, $49.16 in 1926, and $39.29 in 1917.

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding Dec. 31, 1927, was $244,432,887. Of this amount $11,373,123 was for public service enterprises.

Net Debt $77.90 Per Capita.

The net indebtedness funded or fixed debt, less sinking fund assets, was $241,700,338, or $77.90 per capita. The increased per capita net debt reported for 1927 was principally due to bond issues for the sanitary district, parks, and for county purposes. The taxable valuation of property in Chicago subject to ad valorem taxes for city corporation was $4,260,487,730. The levy for all purposes was $209,295,822, of which $49,283,134, or 23.5 per cent, was levied for the city corporation; $19,126,970, or 9.2 per cent, for the county; $64,606,683, or 31.6 per cent, for the schools; $20,061,418, or 9.4 per cent, for the parks; $2,400,350, or 1.8 per cent, for the forest preserve district; $17,001,751, or 8.3 per cent, for the sanitary district, and $14,874,532 or 7.1 per cent, for the state.

AT PACIFISTS
STIR GALLERIESRidicules Reliance on Peace Treaties.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Scorn and ridicule were heaped upon pacifist dreamers today by Sen. James A. Reed (Dem., Mo.).

Railing the issue of preparedness versus pacifism in a manner which aroused senators from their usual indifference and stirred crowded galleries, the Missourian urged the senate to place its reliance upon an adequate navy rather than upon paper treaties.

It was one of the last speeches which Senator Reed, who retires to private life on March 4 after 18 years of service, will make in the senate. It proved to be one of the few addresses of the present session to hold the interest of a full attendance of senators.

Provokes Brookhart Outburst.

Directing his sarcasm against the pacifist proclaimed yesterday by Senator Smith W. Brookhart (Rep., Ia.), Senator Reed provoked a stormy outburst from the Iowa radical. Senator Brookhart, who is opposing the pending cruiser bill, professed faith in the coming of a day when "organized murder" will no longer exist.

Senator Reed challenged the theory of the pacifists that the Kellogg war reunciation treaty and other similar peace moves will be successful in outlawing war. In this connection he cited figures relative to armies and navies of various other nations. The question of the American navy, he said, "is not a problem of dreamland, but a terrestrial problem."

"Would you hear the voice of the world, oh you dreamers of dreams, listen and your ears will be greeted by the roar of furnaces which are forging the plates of ships of war," Senator Reed went on. "Listen, and you can hear the chorus of mighty hammers which are shaping the keels of great battleships. There will come to you the hum of countless lathe shaping rifles and machine guns. You can hear the whir of wings of innumerable airplanes. Look, and you can see the skilled engineers of every nation as they plan and direct the construction of armaments."

War Plans Prepared.

"The war councils of every great nation have prepared plans for the sinking of the American fleet, the bombardment of American cities, and they have laid out the roads over which the armies will travel in case of war with the United States."

"In the face of that we are told to put our faith in paper treaties. Paper treaties will not arrest the force of explosive shells. Paper treaties will not hold back invading armies. Paper treaties will not save our commerce upon the seas. The valor of our men cannot rescue us. The world's history is red with the blood of valor shed by the men with inferior arms."

"If war should come, it would be small solace to the boys aboard our warships approaching the enemy to say that pacifists have passed resolutions that there should never be any more war. It is not a proposition of whether we want to live in heaven or not. There is no heaven where we now dwell. We are living on this cold, hard old earth, and men will not be transformed into saints."

Reviews U. S. Unpreparedness.

Senator Reed reviewed the condition of unpreparedness confronting the country when the United States was forced into the world war.

"We had been told that if we got into war, that if there was any result to our country, a million men would leap to arms over night," he continued. "Then we did not provide any arms for them when they had leaped to arms. We were told that the valor of our men was sufficient, and we took those lads and ordered them into camp where there were no camps."

"We sent them there without clothing, without shoes, without proper equipment of any kind. We drilled them with broomsticks during the precious hours when they ought to have been learning to handle rifles. We put into their hands, finally, old, obsolete weapons. We sent them across the sea half equipped."

Fought with Borrowed Guns.

"We sent them there without proper artillery. My recollection is that at the end of the war there were 184 American-made field guns on the battle line. The rest of our war, so far as field guns was concerned, was fought with guns that Pershing borrowed from England and France."

"Do you know that not a single American-made fighting airplane ever crossed a German trench during the war? We were experimenting. We were fooling around with a motor that has been discarded as useless. We were spending a billion dollars building airplanes that could not fight or fly."

"The blood of Americans killed in the war," he said, "ought to be visited upon the heads of those who would not permit this country to be ready to defend itself."

"George Washington may have been an old fool," the senator declared, "but his sword carved out of the rocks of fate the greatest nation the world has ever seen, and George Washington said the best way to prepare."

war." Senator Reed referred to fortifications maintained by Great Britain in Bermuda and its possession of a chain of islands not far distant from the Panama canal. In time of war Great Britain could destroy the Panama canal in five hours, he said.

"Whom is Great Britain arming against?" asked Senator Reed. "I do not say that Great Britain contemplates war against the United States. I say that British statesmen have sense enough to be prepared for what may happen. I say that American statesmen who do not have sense enough to be prepared are not fit to represent their constituents."

Senator Reed said he favored a navy strong enough to beat not only any other navy but the combined navies of any other two countries.

"If we had possessed such a navy," he said, "Great Britain would not have insulted us as she did in the early days of the world war and Germany would not have taken such a step as compelled us to enter the war."

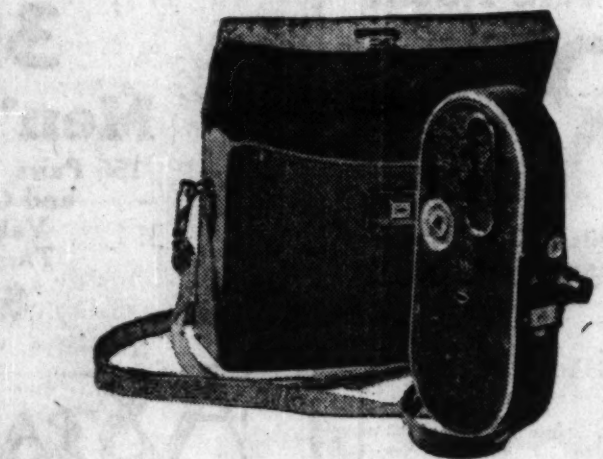

Brookhart Defends Pacifism.

Senator Brookhart's arguments against the cruiser bill, Senator Reed asserted, were offered "in the teeth of the opinion of the great military experts of the world." The Iowa senator interrupted Senator Reed several times during his address and then on his conclusion took the floor.

"You have just listened to the greatest speech that will ever be made for the old order of things," said Senator Brookhart. "I believe we can get away from the cannibalism of the past. I believe there is something greater than organized murder."

"For service in the army. If there were a good cause, I would resign from the senate and volunteer again, but, notwithstanding that record, I am not ashamed to stand up and say I am a pacifist."

351 MILLION BILL
WOULD ADD 500
MEN TO U. S. NAVYReported to House from Committee.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Punds providing an addition of 500 enlisted men to the naval establishment are provided in the 351 million dollar naval supply bill reported to the house today by its appropriations committee. Approval of the bill as it now stands would increase naval personnel to 84,500.

Provisions for increased personnel were added by the committee over the recommendations of the budget, and other naval officials had described the acute situation now existing in the navy. These officials stated that eight new ships to be placed in service during 1930 necessitated the addition of from 2,000 to 4,000 men to the naval establishment.

In order to make up the deficiency, the committee recommended the decomposition of older ships and transfer of their crews to new warships. According to the committee, it will be necessary to obtain at least 1,747 men during the next fiscal year by decommissioning older ships.

With the exception of adding funds for personnel, the committee followed closely the budget figures submitted by President Coolidge. The bill's total is approximately $15,000,000 less than was made available for the present fiscal year.

Examination of the hearings before a subcommittee revealed that the final figure agreed to by the committee was approximately $70,000,000 less than the preliminary estimates submitted originally to Secretary Wilbur by the heads of the various naval bureaus.

MANUFACTURERS
URGE TIME LIMIT
IN CRUISER BILL

James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, telegraphed United States Senators Charles S. Deneen and Otis F. Glenn yesterday expressing apprehension that American commerce will be deprived of the freedom of the seas unless a time limit is inserted in the cruiser bill. The message follows:

"We strongly urge that the time limit be placed in the bill providing for construction of fifteen cruisers. Unless the cruiser bill definitely specifies when our vessels are to be constructed there will be feeling among manufacturers that the cruisers never will be built and American commerce will be deprived of the freedom of the seas by reason of its obsolete naval equipment at a time when every European nation is struggling for commercial supremacy."

CHICAGO DIVORCE

LOVE TRAGEDY

Mrs. Theresa Retzel, 42 years old, yesterday obtained a divorce in Judge Stanley Klarkowski's court from Capt. Karl Retzel, formerly of the Austrian army. Her testimony bare a Viennese romance which was followed by tragedy.

After the world war, when Capt. Retzel lost his fortune, his wife came to America with the intention of earning enough money to send for her husband and two children. She said she sent back money, but the family did not come. Then Mrs. Retzel learned that her money had been used to further an affair between Capt. Retzel and another woman.

The two children, Theresa, 25 years old, and Rudolph, 9 years old, joined their mother and they brought with them news that Capt. Retzel had murdered his sweetheart and had been sentenced to serve in prison for life. The divorce yesterday was granted on grounds of desertion.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—A total of $5,000,000 for the purely military activities of the army has been added to the 447 million dollar war department supply bill by the senate appropriations committee. It was disclosed today when the measure was reported to the senate. The bill has passed the house.

The increased funds, if approved, will increase the appropriations for military expenditures from approximately $34 million dollars to $39 million dollars. The balance carried in the 1930 supply bill will be utilized for the nonmilitary activities of the department.

$3,000,000 for Bombers.

Of the funds added by the senate committee, approximately $3,000,000 will go for the purchase of new bombing, pursuit and training planes for the air corps, $250,000 for the National Guard for maintenance, new construction and an increase in the ration allowance, and approximately $1,000,000 will be turned over to the organized reserves.

Other senate changes included the addition of two items providing $31,000 for forage for 1,000 horses owned by army officers and $23,500 for the purchase of 500 additional horses for the cavalry, engineers and artillery. Both items were approved by the budget, but had been stricken out by the house.

Approve Two Private Mounts.

The forage item was added to make it possible for officers to maintain two private mounts. The house eliminated the forage appropriation on the theory that an army officer was entitled to subsistence for but one horse. The attempt of Assistant Secretary of War Charles Robbins to persuade the committee to include an item permitting the army to enter contract authorizations for 100 light tanks proved unsuccessful.

Blinded by a swirling blizzard that whipped his air mail plane about 3,000 feet above Davenport, Ia., Pilot Jack Story, flying the mail from Kansas City to Chicago, last night leaped for his life in a parachute, according to word received at the Chicago Municipal airport.

Story landed safely in a field in the outskirts of Davenport, carrying with him in his jump a bag of mail. No trace has been found of the plane, although police and officials of the Moline airport searched the countryside for it. Farmers in the vicinity said they heard no crash.

Crossing over into Iowa late yesterday afternoon Story ran into the driving snowstorm. The snow obscured all view of the ground and twilight turned into darkness as he few about looking for an opportunity to land. After two hours of circling, with his gasoline supply running low and the weight of snow on his plane's wings making control of the ship difficult, Story seized a mail bag, stepped out on a wing, and jumped into the storm.

Landing in the field two miles from the center of Davenport, Story disengaged himself from the parachute and went to the Moline field where he delivered the bag.

By jumping from the disabled plane Story becomes a member of the Caterpillar club, an affiliation of all mail pilots who have been forced to jump for their lives from airplanes. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is a member of the same organization. Lindbergh leaped from a mail ship in a snow storm near St. Louis in 1926 and later repeated the feat near Chicago when his gasoline supply was exhausted in a fog.

Story is a resident of Chicago and has been flying in commercial planes for four years. His plane is a Travelaire, powered with a Wright whirlwind motor.

SALVATION ARMY REFORMERS SAY BOOTH MUST GO

General's Court Victory Fails to Stop Fight.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—(U. P.)—Factions in the Salvation Army, as a result of a chancery court injunction decision today, were tonight back in the positions that they held Jan. 14, before the high court adjudicated Bramwell Booth unfit to continue in his office of general.

The high court has been called to reconvene tomorrow morning at the international headquarters of the Army in London. The court must start the adjudication proceedings all over again, as their previous action was nullified by the court because Gen. Booth's legal representatives were not allowed to plead in his defense before the court.

Bramwell Booth is again head of the Salvation Army, but his nomination for a successor, contained in a sealed envelope, is invalid so long as the court is in existence. It was learned that reports that this envelope had been destroyed were incorrect.

Plan to Push Reform.

One of the leading members of the council said tonight that the position of the reform element had been consolidated by the legal proceedings, and that there was no doubt the council would reiterate its previous decision and proceed to elect a new general without further delay.

Members of the council have been meeting informally since the first injunction halted their program, and they have now formulated the list of reforms which they wish to put into effect.

One official said the stock of Miss Evangeline Booth, sister of the general and commander of the Army in the United States and its possessions, has risen considerably within the week. He said she was now considered the outstanding candidate for leadership of the international organization.

Will Not Change Minds.

"It is most unlikely that any of the councilors who have already voted to remove the general from office will change their minds," said one councilor. "No fresh evidence can be brought forward to alter the situation, and it is obvious that Bramwell Booth is still physically unfit to pursue his work."

The matter resolves itself merely into a hearing of the general's position. This time it will be presented by his daughter, Catherine, but by some person who will not be both his advocate and one of his judges. Justice Eve in the Chancery court pointed out that Catherine Booth held the dual role when she pleaded for her father and at the same time occupied a judicial position as member of the high council.

"The councilors feel no sense of regret because of today's court decision. We met for the first time in the history of the council and we made an error, but it was one of inexperience and can readily be rectified. We welcome the delay, no matter how inconvenient it may be to many of our members overseas, in the end it will satisfy all parties that full justice has been done."

Army's Constitution Upheld.

"The great fact which strengthens the council is that Gen. Booth's attack on the validity of the 1904 deed poll, under which the council exists, was abandoned early in the court proceedings. This proved that the army's constitution as laid down in the deeds of 1878 and 1904 is able to stand the test of legal scrutiny."

At Southwold, Gen. Booth's secretary said the general had made no comment on the court's decision. He had received the news calmly, it was stated, but would make no statement until his solicitors had been consulted. It is expected that Gen. Booth will issue a statement tomorrow.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians for 50 years since its invention.

"One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now."

Einstein's New Theory May Open Way for Man to Float in Air and Defy Gravity

New York, Jan. 30.—(U. P.)—One of the amazing possibilities of the new Einstein theory is that man may gain control over gravitation and be no longer earth-bound, the New York Evening Post said today, in commenting on Prof. Albert Einstein's unification of the laws of gravity and electro-magnetism.

"Just as magnets draw objects and as anti-magnets repel objects, making it possible for steel bars to float in the air," the newspaper said, "it may be possible through further research in the new theory to develop means whereby human beings can float in the air and otherwise free themselves from the forces of gravity."

"Its significance from the scientific point of view is colossal. Its effects in point of controversy and necessary readjustment of scientific concepts are certain to equal those which followed Prof. Einstein's description of a four-dimensional universe and of a fusion of space and time into a hypothetical assumed space-time."

INTERPRETS NEW THEORY

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times.)

BY L. L. WHYTE.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Dr. Albert Einstein's new work, which was made available to the public today, consists of some five pages on a difficult mathematical theory. Its importance to science cannot be judged until Dr. Einstein and other experts have had time to follow up its consequences, but it is possible to give immediately a general suggestion of the methods used and the relation this theory bears to Dr. Einstein's earlier achievements and to the main body of current physical thought.

The confirmation of the general theory of relativity left two urgent problems. The first was the extension of the theory to include that large scale, the phenomena of electro-magnetism, and the second was the correlation of a continuous space time field with the fact of atomism. Dr. Einstein's present achievement probably constitutes the most perfect fusion of electro-magnetism and gravitation possible so long as atomism is neglected and in this sense it may come to be regarded as the culmination of the field of physics founded by Faraday and Maxwell.

Creates a New Geometry.

The Riemannian geometry, used by Dr. Einstein in his general theory, provided no quantities which could be used to describe the facts of electro-magnetism, and hence in July, 1928, Dr. Einstein proposed to use a geometry which may be said to lie between those of Riemann and Euclid. In this new geometry, in addition, the parallelism of two distant lines is retained, and as a result the geometrical properties of the field provide just enough quantities to cover the data of electro-magnetism observations in addition to the gravitational effects adequately described by the simpler Riemannian geometry.

On this basis Einstein was able to propose a field equation which was not merely a formal fusion of the laws of gravitation and electro-magnetism, but which could be regarded as a fundamental law from which not only these laws could be deduced but also new information regarding the interaction of the two types of phenomena.

Finds Old Theory Inadequate.

After six months of further study Dr. Einstein now announces that the method previously used for deduction of field equations (that is, from the Hamiltonian principle) has proved inadequate. In its place a new method of great elegance has been developed which has various satisfactory features in connection with the physical interpretation theory.

For instance, a mathematical identity holding to a first approximation between certain functions of field quantities accounts for the independence to a first approximation—of the quantum and electro-magnetic fields. This means that within this approximation certain functions of field quantities account for the independence to a first approximation—of the quantum and electro-magnetic fields.

Yet, even if this has to happen, it will not be surprising to find Dr. Einstein himself the keenest in this task. By revising the geometrical foundation of his earlier theory, he shows he has no bias even toward the methods that previously led him to success.

Protest Delay in Burying Dead at Oak Forest

Protests were made to THE TRIBUNE yesterday regarding conditions at the Oak Forest cemetery where persons too poor to pay for their burials are interred. An investigator yesterday found many of the rude box coffins atop the ground.

Because of the cold, it was explained, workmen who dig the long trenches, which accommodate 440 bodies, are handicapped. Many truck loads of coffins are delivered to the cemetery from Chicago every second week.

Aurora-Elgin Train Jumps Track; Ties Up "L" Traffic

Traffic on the Garfield park branch of the Metropolitan elevated was tied up for two hours early yesterday when a Chicago, Aurora and Elgin train jumped the track just west of Des Plaines avenue. No one was injured. The accident was caused by a broken axle.

of a continuous space time field with the fact of atomism. Dr. Einstein's present achievement probably constitutes the most perfect fusion of electro-magnetism and gravitation possible so long as atomism is neglected and in this sense it may come to be regarded as the culmination of the field of physics founded by Faraday and Maxwell.

Creates a New Geometry.

The Riemannian geometry, used by Dr. Einstein in his general theory, provided no quantities which could be used to describe the facts of electro-magnetism, and hence in July, 1928, Dr. Einstein proposed to use a geometry which may be said to lie between those of Riemann and Euclid. In this new geometry, in addition, the parallelism of two distant lines is retained, and as a result the geometrical properties of the field provide just enough quantities to cover the data of electro-magnetism observations in addition to the gravitational effects adequately described by the simpler Riemannian geometry.

On this basis Einstein was able to propose a field equation which was not merely a formal fusion of the laws of gravitation and electro-magnetism, but which could be regarded as a fundamental law from which not only these laws could be deduced but also new information regarding the interaction of the two types of phenomena.

Finds Old Theory Inadequate.

After six months of further study Dr. Einstein now announces that the method previously used for deduction of field equations (that is, from the Hamiltonian principle) has proved inadequate. In its place a new method of great elegance has been developed which has various satisfactory features in connection with the physical interpretation theory.

For instance, a mathematical identity holding to a first approximation between certain functions of field quantities accounts for the independence to a first approximation—of the quantum and electro-magnetic fields. This means that within this approximation certain functions of field quantities account for the independence to a first approximation—of the quantum and electro-magnetic fields.

Yet, even if this has to happen, it will not be surprising to find Dr. Einstein himself the keenest in this task. By revising the geometrical foundation of his earlier theory, he shows he has no bias even toward the methods that previously led him to success.

Bank Officials Identify 2d Suspect as Robber

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, John F. Hagey, vice president of the bank, and Mrs. Hagey, appeared in the South State street court yesterday and identified a second suspect as a member of the band of four who robbed them of jewelry and furs valued at $1,700 last October. The man identified was Harry Hyter, alias Swanson, 25 years old, 2925 South Michigan avenue. Judge Peter H. Schwab ordered him held to the grand jury in bonds of $60,000.

Mrs. Davis has charged that Mr. Woodward is unfit to have the custody of the children, Ruth, 12, and Frank, 9. She accuses the father of being a "habitual drunkard, wife beater, and follower after of a Turkish princess named Fatima Ala."

Mr. Woodward, who spirited the two children from a French school a week ago and succeeded in landing here unobserved last night, is believed to be in New Jersey tonight.

TONIGHT (at 6:15 or 8:00) you are invited to attend, without charge, the opening lecture of the most unusual course of its kind in America—"Real Letters in Business," by Dr. Frank W. Dignan.

Dr. Dignan's experiments and discoveries in this field during the last ten years have been so revolutionary that they have commanded the attention of the entire country. He has dug deep. Business houses of all kinds have thrown open their files to him. He has read uncounted thousands of letters and checked results. He has conferred with workers of every grade in every field. He has taken their ideas and weighed and tested them by every known principle of psychology and business.

The outcome has been little less than a revolution. Old, established forms and practices have crumbled under this searching fire. New ones have risen to take their place. Unsuspected elements have been found. Laws barely guessed at have been clearly established. For instance—

The results from any letter will be large or small in proportion to the percentage of Saxon words used.

These lectures are as far as possible from the "school" method. They are dramatic, absorbing, intimate talks. They are full of the humor and pathos of life itself. The hearer loses himself completely in the fascinating story of these discoveries.

His whole view of his own work changes. With the new ideas come new ambitions and a new feeling for the great game of business. He goes back to his desk full of eagerness to try out the plans. He is astonished to find how easy it is. He is still more astonished at the quick and hearty response to his letters. One student in his report says, "Man, oh man! how they did work!"

Dr. Dignan has trained the correspondents of many prominent concerns, including Armour & Company, Electric Appliance Company, Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, U. S. Gypsum Company, Florsheim Shoe Company, Cooper Underwear Company, Calumet Baking Powder Company, Old Ben Coal Corporation, Jewell Tea Company, Caldwell Machinery Company, Keystone Steel and Wire Company, and innumerable other corporations throughout America. He is a practical business specialist of the highest type—not a mere theorist. Every principle he advocates is supported by examples from the files of well-known concerns.

Inflammation in nose, throat and bronchial tubes rapidly disappears, snuffles cease and you can breathe freely through nose again.

Opex Opens Up Stuffed Nostrils in 3 Minutes

Now all you have to do is to spray through the nostrils over the entire nose, germ infested membrane, this purifying, germ killing vapor of Opex reaching every nook, crevice and fold in the membrane, as no other remedy can and opening up in three minutes the stuffed up passages.

It seems like a miracle, but after you use Opex a few times each day for a few days, you will find that the sore, raw, swollen, tender membrane is completely healed; sniffing and hawking have ceased and the discharge of catarrh mucus has stopped.

It is worth a whole lot of money to get rid of stubborn catarrh and lessen buzzing noises in the ears, but Opex, which costs so little, will send its purifying, healing, smoke-like vapor just where it will do the most good—you can actually see it going in one nostril and out of the other.

Opex is sold for $1.00 with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly refunded. Opex is delightful to use because of its wholesome fragrance. Keep your nostrils as clean as your teeth.

PRINCE WADES IN FOOT DEEP MUD TO SEE POVERTY

Finds Young Miners Learn Beauty Business.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Jan. 30.—The prince of Wales enjoyed little relief from wading through slush and snow during his visit to the distressed Northumbrian mining region today when the weather carpeted the roads with mud, in some places a foot deep. He was undisturbed by the bad conditions, although one party particularly had road drew the exclamation, "Isn't it positively ghastly?" The prince went plodding on, repeating yesterday's program of unexpected visits to miners' homes.

The prince appeared today in the accustomed rôle of adviser when a young lady in one place he visited told him that she had an opportunity to go to Australia and did not know whether she ought to accept or not. "I have been to Australia," the prince gravely replied. "I can recommend it to you as a good country to go to."

Women Shout for Living Wage.
The prince was still near Newcastle today, visiting the villages of Forest Hall, Seaton Burn, Hartford Colliery, and Bedlington. At the latter place there was something in the nature of a demonstration when the women shouted: "Give us a fair living wage." But there was no disturbance while the prince was within hearing.

Although considerable bitterness is evident, there are no signs of lack of loyalty to the prince, who is received specially and hopefully everywhere. The miner whose house was visited by the prince went so far as to address him as "Your majesty," which he evidently thought a better title than "highness" for the prince.

The prince was particularly struck by the condition of the children's day. The majority of the children were only canvas foot covering. He was told that almost all the children who did wear whole shoes had obtained them from the lord mayor's fund.

Miners Learn to Dress Neat.
NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, Jan. 30.—The prince of Wales' investigation today brought the help to the throne in contact with conditions that were even worse than some which he encountered yesterday. Each time he came out of a squalid cottage the look on his face told more plainly than words the impression that had been produced on his mind.

At the town of Walsend the prince of Wales found 400 young miners busily engaged in learning the hair-dressing business. They were receiving unemployment pay and a training allowance of about sixty cents a day.

At one point in his tour today the prince watched 200 children who were graded in front of him at his own request. The day's program was marked at all times by complete informality. The women at whose home the prince arrived unexpectedly protested that "the children are not yet dressed, sir."

"Never mind," answered the prince, and caught up from the threshold a two-year-old child in a grubby nightgown.

Ends Tour Today.
The first call this morning was at the Walsend training center, where even in the grating despair of the mining villages are trying to become efficient at some other trade.

Going to another village consisting of 24 cottages, each containing one room and an attic, the prince accompanied a miner to his home. Stopping to enter, he learned that nine persons, six of them adults, lived there.

"It makes one heartick to see and hear of such conditions," said the prince.

In another cottage the prince was rather nonplused when the motherly occupant, Mrs. Stewart, asked casually: "How is your dad, sir?"

The prince replied amiably: "He is getting on as well as can be expected. Thank you very much for your kind inquiry."

Mrs. Stewart replied: "I do hope that he will soon be all right. Many of us have sent up our prayers for him and the queen in these dark days."

Tomorrow is the last day of the prince's tour. He will visit the district around the town of Bishop Auckland, where distress is acute.

EVANSTON DOCTOR IS HIT BY TRUCK; SERIOUSLY HURT

Dr. Frank P. Stedem, 64 years old, prominent Evanston physician, was seriously injured last night when he was struck by a truck as he attempted to cross behind a street car at Sherman avenue and Clark street, Evanston.

Dr. Stedem is a member of the board of medical directors of the Chicago National Life Insurance company, 202 South State street. The truck was driven by John Vorisek, 33 years old, 4618 South Robey street, an employee of the Midwest Motor Service company, 4906 South Maplewood avenue. He was not held.

Dr. Stedem, who lost both his legs in a railroad accident, was unable to move quickly. He was hurled to the pavement and suffered severe internal injuries.

Mrs. Sylvia Grigas, 35 years old, 5122 South Austin boulevard, died yesterday in the County hospital of a skull fracture and internal injuries received Monday when the automobile in which she was riding skidded into an Archer avenue car at Clifton Park avenue. This death increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 56.

FAMOUS HOME OF "TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM" IS BURNED

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 30.—[U.P.]—Fire destroyed the historic Dime museum today—called the first of its sort here.

The old theater museum went out in a blaze of glory. Its day long past, it was sold recently to make room for a new, larger structure. It burned merrily for hours, and for two of them forced a halt in all traffic.

The building was constructed shortly after the civil war by Robert J. Simpson as a museum and playhouse. On the stage of the old Dime were presented such tabloid thrillers of the drama as "Ten Nights in a Barroom," "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Under the Lash."

One Christmas day Philadelphia flocked in such large numbers to see "Ten Nights in a Barroom" 33 performances had to be given.

It is said Otis Skinner was a member of a stock company there, and Houdini, and "Buster," then of the "Four Keatons" are others.

RICH INVALID, 43, TO WED GIRL ARTS STUDENT

Airplane Pursuit Marked Their Romance.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The unusual romance of Kenneth R. Coulter, 43, capitalist of Clinton Springs, N. Y., was approaching another climax here tonight.

Coulter, who is an invalid, appeared in a wheel chair at the county clerk's office today and obtained a license to marry Miss Ruth McConnell, 27, pretty art and music student. The wedding probably will take place here some time tomorrow.

Miss McConnell thus apparently has been persuaded to abandon her objections to the suit which became so complicated early in December when she suddenly left a hotel in Rochester, N. Y., and took a train to San Francisco.

Pursued by Airplane.
R. O. Meeker, Rochester medical student, said to be in the employ of Coulter, pursued her by airplane, but was forced down in Nevada. Reports at that time intimated that Coulter was her uncle or guardian, but this she denied. She declared she did not want marry him and that she was going to San Francisco to teach music.

She returned to Indianapolis to spend the holidays with her father, Henry McConnell, and her stepmother. McConnell tonight denied knowing his daughter's whereabouts.

Appears at License Bureau.
Attached at the courthouse said a well dressed man about 35 years old appeared at the license bureau before the closing hour. A few minutes later Miss McConnell appeared, smiling happily. She was stylishly dressed. She explained:

"We wanted to get the Rev. Mr. Roberts to perform the ceremony, but he doesn't live here. We intend to be married here Thursday."

She filled out the license application blank and then the young man who had first appeared returned with an assistant, pushing a plain black wheel chair into the room. In it, nervouslyidgeting, was Coulter, clad in a dark overcoat and a black derby hat. With him were Mr. and Mrs. McConnell.

Fills Out Own Blank.
Insisting that he fill out his own blank, Coulter ordered clerks and attendants aside and proceeded in shaky handwriting. "Well, what shall I put down as my occupation?" he asked Miss McConnell.

"You have several," she replied. Coulter wrote railroad treasurer. Coulter then looked over Miss McConnell's application.

"I want this filled out right," he insisted. "You have written the name of your stepmother in place of your own mother."

Miss McConnell changed the application, they received the license and left.

500 JOIN NIGHT HUNT FOR GIRL THOUGHT SLAIN

Lured to Auto, Indiana
Posse Hints.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—A possible repetition of the Hickman case was feared here tonight as more than 500 persons joined in a search in the vicinity of Paxton, south of Sullivan, for the body of Edith May Dierdorf, age 19, a newsgirl, believed kidnapped and murdered.

The country was searched several miles in each direction from the spot where a bloodstained newspaper sack, found on the Dixie Bee highway, gave the searchers the first clue to the child's possible fate.

Police and citizens from Terre Haute, Sullivan, Paxton and Carlisle joined the hunt.

"Fred Dierdorf of West Terre Haute, father of the missing girl, was a member of the posse."

Volunteers Come by Auto.
The highways were blocked for miles tonight with automobiles bringing new volunteers to join in the hunt during the night.

Clarence Brothers, a grocer, postedly identified a picture of the Dierdorf girl as that of the child who came to his store Sunday noon, bought a package of chewing gum, and rode away with an unidentified man in an automobile. She has been missing since Sunday.

The bloodstained newspaper bag has been identified as the one used by the girl in carrying papers.

Hiram Smith, official of a coal company here, today telephoned police headquarters that a miner employed by him saw an automobile stop on the Dixie highway Sunday evening; and something was thrown from the machine.

Auto Clew to Hunt.
The bag was picked up near the place where the miner said he saw the automobile generally resembling the one described by Brothers as the one the girl entered near his store.

The Dierdorf girl at the time of her disappearance wore a pink georgette dress, dark gray coat trimmed with brown fur, dark blue scarf, plaid hose, black slippers, socks about her ankles, and a cream colored aviator's cap. She had dark eyes, brown bobbed hair, and a scar on the left side of her neck. She was larger for her age, jovial, and made friends readily.

At a mass meeting held in West Terre Haute a fund to finance the search was started.

A blood clot, matted with hair, marked the bag which the girl used to carry newspapers.

BABY PRINCESS OF U. S. GIRL GETS SILVER CRADLE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 30.—The baby princess of Indore, whose mother was Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, will be the center of elaborate ceremonies to mark the bestowal of its name, Sharda Raju Haika. The deposed maharajah of Indore, the baby's father, is one of India's richest men, and arrangements for the ceremonies are being made in keeping with his wealth and station.

On the fifth day after the birth the goddess of fate is worshiped and her blessings and good wishes requested.

A special cradle made of silver, with gold bells and musical toys attached, has been ordered from India, and clothes are en route from Indore.

The next day an astrologer will prepare a horoscope, which will be placed near the bed in a silver dish. The mother and child will be bathed on the tenth day and then will be allowed to leave the room, outside of which hymns of peace will have been recited continuously. The most important ceremonies take place in connection with the naming on the thirteenth day, when the family deity, Khandoba, seated on a white horse, is worshiped.

DUNLAP OFFERS STATE POLICE BILL IN SENATE

Said to Have Approval of Gov. Emmerson.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—What is believed to be the state police bill that Gov. Louis I. Emmerson introduced in the senate today by Harry M. Dunlap: It does not bear anything like the "state police" label, which is the objectionable to the union labor, but provides for the creation of a new department under the governor, the department of public safety, headed by a director and an assistant director.

The new department would take over all the duties of the present state highway patrol force, whose operations are limited to enforcement of the motor vehicle laws. It also would be given full police power to enforce the criminal code. The force would operate in cities of more than 10,000 population except upon orders of the governor.

Would Be Rural Police.
In other words, it was explained, the new department's active agents would be a rural motorcycle and automobile police, to protect the farming sections and the smaller communities and to form the connecting link between the various sheriffs and chiefs of police of the state.

Gov. Emmerson announced several appointments. The most important of them being that of Ralph F. Bradford of Pontiac as director of conservation.

Mr. Bradford was superintendent of fish and game under Frank O. Lowman and for several years was collector of customs at Chicago.

A second appointment was that of Ernest Hetman, 1229 Crystal street, Chicago, as assistant director of purchases and construction. Hetman, a business man from the northwest side, is a new circulation manager of the Illinois Daily News.

House Prunes Pay Roll.
Gov. Emmerson said he had not received any reports from department heads following his order to lay off unnecessary employees, but the house of representatives' organization announced it had eliminated thirty-three unnecessary names from its own pay roll as it stood during the last session. This means a saving of $15,000 or $20,000 this year, and probably will compel similar economy in other sessions.

$500,000 DAMAGE SUIT OF CHICAGO
WOMAN BEATEN

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 30.—[AP.]—Said for $500,000 damages, brought by the Florence B. Robinson of Chicago against three Indiana residents, was decided against Miss Robinson by a jury in federal court today. Charges against six other defendants were dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge Robert Baltzell.

The suit was part of several years' litigation over the purchase of Texas oil lands from Charles M. Watson, who the defense asserted was a partner of Miss Robinson. The three defendants were Mrs. Clara B. Swain, Nashville; Miss Anna I. Wadman, Indianapolis; and Mrs. Belle E. Ellis, Seymour. Miss Robinson was ordered to pay the court costs.

In 1921 the defendants instituted a cross bill in a creditors' proceeding pending against Watson in which the Robinsons had been named co-defendants. The suit was dismissed and Miss Robinson in her action charged her credit had been damaged and her oil land investments had been impaired.

REVERENT VERDICT IN DEATH.
A coroner's jury, investigating the death of Gasoline Karsan, 43 years old, 843 West Morgan street, whose burned body was found Monday evening in a ditch at 12th street and Westworth avenue, was unable to determine how he met death and returned an open verdict.

200 DOGS DIE IN KENOSHA'S DRIVE ON RABIES WAVE

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—The slaughter of dogs which has characterized Kenosha's fight against the spread of a rabies epidemic was on the wane here tonight after nearly 200 canines had been shot by police in every section of the city.

The shooting order followed a proclamation by the city manager two days ago, ordering all persons to keep their dogs indoors and locked up for ninety days. Some of the dogs shot by police have shown positive symptoms of rabies. Seventeen persons were bitten by dogs in three weeks. One man died.

SPANISH REBELS LAY DOWN ARMS; LEADERS JAILED

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
PARIS, Jan. 30.—Uncensored information trickling across the Spanish frontier indicates that Premier Primo de Rivera has smashed completely the army plot to overthrow his dictatorship.

Ciudad Real, 100 miles south of Madrid, which is the only spot where a revolution has got a chance to function, today abandoned the insurrection when the enlisted men refused to follow the orders of their rebel officers. Gen. Orgaz, who was sent from the capital by Primo de Rivera to assume command of the military situation, telegraphed that reinforcements were not needed.

The dictator promised immunity to all privates and non-commissioned officers if they returned to their barracks. The troops promptly hauled back to the garrison all the field guns and machine guns that the officers had ordered to be placed in position to hold the town, and returned to their barracks to play cards.

Gen. Orgaz arrested all the artillery officers and locked them up. This evening Sanchez Guerra, former conservative party leader, was arrested at Valencia.

RUROR IN KIDNAP TRIAL IS JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

Judge Learns Police Record After Odd Verdict.

Joseph M. Verville Jr., 1833 School street, a member of the jury which was rebuked by Judge John P. McGorty Tuesday for its verdict in the kidnaping case, was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment yesterday for contempt of court. He had been arrested numerous times and had been sentenced to jail for safebreaking, Judge McGorty found. But when examined by the jury service he said he had never been interested in the outcome of a criminal trial and that he had no previous record.

The jury, in its verdict, gave the defendant, Harry Burton, one of the defendants, who decided not to testify in his own behalf and deny the guilt. The state had asked the death penalty for the trio, possible under the laws, because Gaynor was kidnapped for ransom of $100,000.

Judge Criticizes Verdict. "Your verdict is astounding," Judge McGorty told the twelve men. "The complaining witness was held six days in fear and in danger of his life by these defendants. The automobile of the defendant Burton was found outside the place of imprisonment, and two pistols were hidden in the seat. He did not deny his part in the crime and therefore your verdict is the most logical and inconsistent I have ever seen."

Judge McGorty did not order the jury locked up for the rest of the night, as has been reported, but he told them he wished them to report to him together at 2 o'clock yesterday. Some of them went home after the verdict Tuesday night, the rest choosing to stay at their hotel quarters, and they assembled in court in the afternoon.

Verville Admits Arrests. Judge McGorty and Assistant State's Attorneys Clarence S. Pigott and Duane Reed questioned them, one at a time, in chambers. Verville admitted that he had been arrested on a number of occasions and that he had been extradited to Indiana for trial. The court and prosecutors stated they believed Verville's attitude was largely responsible for the verdict.

Verville was then placed on the witness stand in open court and questioned publicly by the judge, who made this statement: "This man deliberately perjured himself when being examined and sworn for jury service."

CRIMINAL COURT.
William L. Callow, having burglar tools, sentenced to 1 to 2 years in the penitentiary by Judge Thomas J. Lynch. Anthony Wilczynski, Paul Jenkot, burglar, sentenced to 1 year to life each in Pontiac reformatory; John Havelin, assault to murder, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Frank Comerford.

Edmond Tuhle, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory; Bernie Blume and Thomas Harrison, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 30 years in the penitentiary; Edward Nelson, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Harry E. Miller.

ness stand in open court and questioned publicly by the judge, who made this statement: "This man deliberately perjured himself when being examined and sworn for jury service."

After imposing sentence the assistant state's attorneys said they would inquire further into Verville's history.

A motion for a new trial for the two convicted is yet to be heard by the court and the case of William H. Lewis, west side gambler and saloon-keeper, who confessed his part in the kidnaping, is also pending. It was through the arrest of Lewis, who was negotiating for the ransom money, that the police were able to rescue Gaynor who was being tortured, and to arrest the three defendants at the shack where they had imprisoned Gaynor.

GETS YEAR ON GUN CHARGE.
Ben Esell, Negro, 1735 West Lake street, was fined $100 and sentenced to serve a year in the Bridewell for pistol today by Judge W. S. Sanders in Des Plaines street court.

Skin Clears Right Up!
In any case of pimples, blackheads, sore or itching skin, you must do TWO things! You must clear the skin of the pimples, blackheads, scales and blotches and also heal the sore and broken tissue. That's what Rowles Mentho Sulphur does—the sulphur clears the skin while the menthol heals. That's why this great combination is putting an end to skin troubles. One night sees a great change in the skin. In two or three days the skin is of a new, clear healthy whiteness. All druggists carry Rowles Mentho Sulphur. Be sure it's Rowles.

Verville McGorty did not order the jury locked up for the rest of the night, as has been reported, but he told them he wished them to report to him together at 2 o'clock yesterday. Some of them went home after the verdict Tuesday night, the rest choosing to stay at their hotel quarters, and they assembled in court in the afternoon.

3D STAY ASKED FOR PAIR DUE TO DIE TOMORROW

New Orleans, La., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The lives of Mrs. Ada Bonner Lehouet and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher tonight were in the hands of Wayne G. Borah, judge of the federal district court and youthful nephew of United States Senator William E. Borah.

He is expected to make known his decision tomorrow whether he will halt the executions of the man and woman, sentenced to be hanged Friday for the murder, in July, 1927, of the woman's husband.

Meanwhile Mrs. Lehouet and Dr. Dreher are variously described as "babbling idiots," in a state of collapse, and as facing their doom in dumb stolidism. The execution has already been stayed twice.

COUNCIL DEFERS ACTION ON NEW HARBOR MEASURE

Action on a bill for a harbor in Lake Calumet, introduced in yesterday's city council meeting by Ald. Guy Guernsey (18th), was deferred by the council until its special session Monday. If passed, it is planned to present the bill to the legislature at the earliest possible moment. The new bill, which has been approved by Ald. Guernsey's committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges, retains some of the features of the acts of 1921 and 1927. It restores to the city the ownership of the bed of the lake and removes the 50 year lease provision and ten year property revaluation of the harbor lands. A special harbor tax of 2 1/2 cents on each $100 valuation is provided in the bill to furnish funds to dig the initial basin.

To the Chicago Tribune OH! MR. EDITOR

A smile, a laugh and the hub-bub of commercial life and the actual things of today seemed not so pressing, nor so near, as we read with full appreciation of the delicious humor your editorial entitled, "The Key to Men's Clothes," in your good paper of January 30, in which you say in part:

"In their general design men's clothes were fixed about one hundred years ago.

"Clothes were warm, close wrappings of heavy woolen goods and were washed rarely. The times were stuffy, and the stuffy clothes that men wore then survive now in a different age. Where women fit their clothes to the modern needs, men keep the ancient model.

"The key to the men's clothes problem is about the waist, and here the main improvement must be made.

"When man will wear a blouse of washable material to replace the present tugged in shirt, a fundamental gain in clothes for him will be ushered in. It should be a blouse of fairly heavy cotton goods, hanging outside the trousers. It should reach down to the hips and should hang straight, or be bound below by a wide band of elastic. A light, loose belt might be worn outside of it.

"With such a blouse a man could remove his coat and look well dressed. His coat, indeed, would be a garment, like an overcoat, that would be worn according to the temperature. With a blouse below, with its attached collar and a tie, the coat could be discarded gracefully except as it is needed. The blouse would be changed daily, as the shirt is now, and the hot, insanitary coat of today would take its proper place.

"A washable blouse hanging outside of the trousers is the key to future improvements in men's dress."

So! It is true, then! After all these years the editor of today still is the aid, guide, mentor and adviser extraordinary to the people, in things of art and utility, highways and politics—and now it is dress. Horace Greeley lives again. Or is it good old dictatorial Dr. Samuel Johnson?

But if there shall be no censorship of the press—Should there be censorship of people's dress?

Please, Mr. Editor, don't send us back to Blouses hanging outside our pants.

True, Leo Tolstoy's Russian Muzhiks wore them—and, of course, many good editors admired Tolstoy.

But who wants to look like a Muzhik?

He still wears an overhanging Blouse, but haven't the Bolsheviks "taken his pants away"—or his liberties (the same thing)? You can't sell Americans on that style of Blouse.

Yes, Peasants of France also wear 'em.

Millions of American boys saw them "over there," but they all were glad to get into the American type pants again.

And why not?

Why should they wear a garment that permitted a Cossack to grab the shirt tail and knout the Muzhik—or a perfumed gentleman to hold strategically whilst caning the peasant?

And the dads of the lads of today remember the national laugh that greeted the "exposed shirt waist" fad of 1905.

But are the styles of 1929 so awkward as you seem to think?

A man is a hero to every one but his tailor, says the old maxim. But today—tailors, manufacturers and retailers have retained and pay princely salaries to some of the true artists of the time.

They are called designers.

Knowing the human figure, its graces and its weaknesses, these "creators of line and style" drape, fit and guide the lines of Coats, Vests and—Pants to conform with and sometimes to enhance the contour of the patron's body and limbs.

As many of the finest examples of these Designers' art may now be found in The Store for Men, we again respectfully invite you and "The Inquiring Reporter" to come over at your leisure and inspect the authentic and not supposed styles for men and young men of today.

You will find very little of the padding that you so evidently dread—as immensely padded shoulders for men have disappeared, just as women discarded bustles and hoopskirts. You will find graceful lines and comfort (because the great designers of today find beauty in simplicity) and a surprising smartness of ensemble, and a mental assurance, too. Especially is this so if you permit us to outfit you with The Rookery—a 1929 version Suit. We also suggest to you the latest type Underwear—silk or linen, or silk wool athletics that you so often see in club locker rooms today and which are, oh, so different from "the warm, close wrappings of heavy woolen goods" that you so dislike, but which The Tribune's good Dr. Evans seemed to espouse for "Underdressed Women" in his "How to Keep Well" column of January 29.

Then, if you will select one of our fine Shirts of good imported Scotch madras with hand-clipped figures;

Next, a colorful, but not too fortissimo, Tie to harmonize;

Hose to match—subdued in shade but with a dash, nevertheless—and easy on the feet;

A bit of a hand-rolled, soft, white linen Handkerchief just peeping from the pocket;

Black Shoes of soft, pliable "heart of leather" with a custom feel and a smart swing;

Then, the right Hat for the shape of your head, shoulders and height. Choose from the best that America, England, France and Italy can offer.

Ah! The perfect ensemble. Dash, yet restraint! You have it. Ecstacy!

The editor sans fear—now the editor beau ideal.

A Bayard; a Brummell, too.

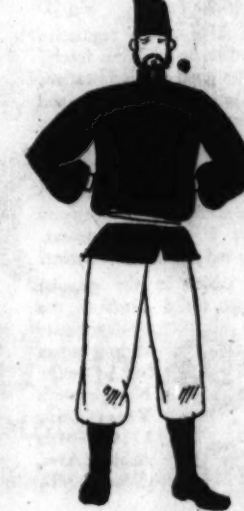

Don Quixote sheds armor, buckler and tilting lance of pen and printer's ink and arms himself cap a pie in the fashion of 1929 to do battle with the world.

And Automobile Men, Soldiers, Bankers, Salesmen, Executives—all know that what an editor can do we all can try.

Come over and let The Store for Men serve you in a way important to yourselves.

OPPONENTS WAGE WAR ON MAYOR'S COUNCIL LEADERS

Thompsonism Is Issue in South Side Wards.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Fights against four Thompson council leaders in a string of south side wards came into prominence last night as the aldermanic campaign warmed up. In the Fifth, Charles Scribner Eaton, former alderman, launched into his fight against Ald. Leonard J. Grossman, who was elected as a Democrat two years ago, but somersaulted into the Thompson Republican camp, later developing into one of the mayor's floor leaders.

Mr. Eaton, who lost by only 102 votes out of 15,000 in 1927, has the support of Roy O. West, secretary of the interior, Felix A. Norden, the Deane committee chairman; the old Brundage group in the ward, and an organized array of independents, improvement clubs and civic clubs. In addition, Michael L. Igou, minority leader in the house, and the Democratic organization are opposing Grossman, while some of the Thompson precinct captains are said to be for Eaton.

The talk in the council ante-chambers yesterday was that Grossman seems riding to a fall at the Feb. 26 election. The aldermen, studying the registration figures of Tuesday, put their fingers on the Fifth, which had the second largest new enrollment in the city, and viewed it as indicative of public interest in this ward battle.

Race Tightens in 4th. The race tightened in the Fourth ward, where Ald. B. A. Cronson, nephew of Corporation Counsel Samuel Eitelson, has two chief opponents who are raising against him the issue of Thompsonism. They are Alex Kleferstein and Dr. George W. Prince, a Negro physician. Ald. Cronson has the backing of the Harding-Tamm-Krueger Republican combination, and Mr. Kleferstein has the support of the Deane organization, Judge Daniel Trude and Julius Rosenwald.

The electorate of the ward is estimated to contain about 65 per cent Negro voters. It has 55 Negro precincts and 23 white. The Negro leaders are figuring that with the white vote divided between Cronson and Kleferstein, Dr. Prince, who is an independent and an anti-Thompsonite, has a chance to walk in down the middle.

The Prince campaigners are attacking Dan Jackson-Oscar DePriest influence in the Negro wards, and one of their slogans is: "Keep the Fourth Ward Clean from Policy Games."

Close in 2d and 3d. In the Second ward, Ald. Louis B. Anderson, who was the mayor's chief floor leader before Ald. Oscar Nelson grabbed the title, has for his chief opponent, Earl B. Dickerson, who last fall organized the colored voters in the interests of Gov. Smith. Ald. R. R. Jackson in the Third is opposed by Nathan S. Taylor, an assistant United States district attorney. These two wards have been great Thompson strongholds in the past—in fact, this territory gave the mayor his first nomination in 1915—but now they are reported on the verge of an uprising.

Out of this group of four Thompson aldermen, the politicians regard Grossman and Cronson as most likely to be defeated.

Last night 202 aldermanic petitions had been filed. Tomorrow is the final day and the bell will ring at 5 o'clock in City Clerk Patrick Sheridan Smith's office.

He announced yesterday that the filings would close when the office closes at its regular hour. Some 200 petitions are expected, averaging about six to a ward. Many are being thrown in for the advertising, and others to keep a strong alderman from getting a clear majority on Feb. 26, throwing him into the run-off election on April 2. In the Ninth, for example, Ald. Sheldon W. Govier has almost a dozen opponents.

Battle On in 50th Ward. A grand battle is already in progress in the 50th ward, where Ald. A. K. Mose is fighting for reelection. Candidates are plentiful. Wiley K. Galloway bears the endorsement of the Deane organization, and Ald. Mose is backed by County Commissioner Louis Nettelhorst, the Brundage ward committeeman.

Interest centered yesterday in Arthur W. Arneeman, another candidate, who was criticized by Ald. Mose as one of the Eller jury which voted fines instead of jail for the Eller henchmen. Ex-Ald. William F. Lippe, who sat in the city council for sixteen years, rushed last night to the defense of Mr. Arneeman. He pointed out that as a jurymen, Mr. Arneeman might have been one of those who stood for a stronger sentence, but compromised to avoid a hung jury.

New SUPERIOR Whippet

with "FINGER-TIP CONTROL"

THE MOST NOTABLE ADVANCE IN DRIVING CONVENIENCE SINCE THE SELF-STARTER

Greater Beauty, Larger Bodies Make it the hit of the Chicago Show

The longer bodies of the Superior Whippet, the low lines, distinctive colors, higher radiator and hood, heavier one-piece full crown fenders, are bringing to Four and light Six buyers an entirely new conception of how beautiful an inexpensive car can be.

Mechanically, too, the new Superior Whippet is far advanced—faster, livelier, more powerful than ever. It is the lowest-priced car to offer such important features as the new "Finger-Tip Control," silent timing chain and full force-feed lubrication. And it carries on Whippet's unsurpassed reputation for operating economy and minimum service costs.

Roomier interiors, broader seats, longer front and rear springs, snubbers and over-size balloon tires bring you the riding comfort of costlier cars.

ASK 13 MILLIONS IN BOND ISSUES PUT ON BALLOT

Council to Pass on Request

Approval of bond issues totaling $13,650,000 will be asked of the voters at the aldermanic election Feb. 26 if the city council acts favorably on the recommendations submitted yesterday by its finance committee. A special council meeting has been called for Monday to consider the bond issue request, which was ordered deferred and published at yesterday's meeting. The money, if voted, would be used to satisfy the judgments obtained by property owners for lands condemned by the city in street improvement proceedings. The judgments, it was pointed out, carry a 5 per cent interest rate, while the rate on the bonds is only 4 per cent, which would result in a saving of $136,000 to the city each year.

Delays Council Meeting.
The battle in the finance committee to decide what bond issues should be recommended lasted over three hours and delayed the council meeting by one hour. Proposals for bonds other than the judgments were made by the committee and by some of the city groups which were represented. The judgment proposition, when it was first placed before the committee, was for the payment of $15,651,732. Later it was learned that the amount included approximately $2,000,000 to pay judgments on paving work, and this was eliminated, despite protests by Ald. Oscar E. Nelson (46th). The items as they appeared before striking out paving judgments are:

Street improvement—	Amount of judgment.
Western avenue	$2,000,400
La Salle street	6,267,670
Wacker drive	12,353,918
Lincoln avenue	245,200
Madison street	150,711
Milwaukee avenue	10,000

Total

Ald. Nelson tried to get a $1,000,000 bond proposal for street lights. This was lost by a vote of 8 to 7 and Ald. Dorsey Crowe's [42] request for $500,000 for the airport lost 10 to 5.

Civic Groups Divided.
The civic groups represented at the meeting were divided among themselves in regard to what bonds should be sought. Joseph K. Brittain, representing the Chicago Association of Commerce, warned the committee not to propose any issue except for the judgments. He was supported by Douglas Sutherland of the Civic federation.

Inclusion of all street improvements on the bond issue ballot was urged by H. H. Haylett, greater south side chamber of commerce; Guy Craner, West Central association; J. J. Bell, Stock Yards Civic and Business Men's association; and H. J. Ruggles of the west town chamber of commerce.

WOMEN VOTERS SPLIT BALLOTS, SURVEY SHOWS

Men's Wards Do Their Voting Straight.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

If Illinois legislators can be induced to lend a kindly ear to the logic of the Illinois League of Women Voters, based on statistics they have amassed, there'll be a stable ticket taken in the state ballot, and the party circle will be erased from the top of columns of candidates for various offices in future elections. Thereby, the league contends, we have much to gain in efficiency.

Its arguments are founded on data compiled from the Nov. 6 election, indicating that the intelligent voter ignores the party circle and splits his ticket in favor of individual candidates, while the dictation of political machines results in the voters putting a cross in the party circle and registering a "tail goes with the hide" policy of parliamentarism.

Figures Show Women Straight.
Results of the study left the officials of the League of Women Voters elated over their conclusions that women voters apparently split their tickets on Nov. 6 far more consistently than men. Figures by wards are interpreted by them to show, if not more intelligent, at least more conscientious voting in the feminine camp.

"We consider it significant," said Mrs. B. G. Jamieson, chairman of the league's department of efficiency in government, yesterday, "that the highest percentage of split party votes came in the 49th ward, notoriously politics ridden, registered the highest number of straight ballots, 69 per cent of the total vote. Here the women were vastly in the minority, only 3,412 voting, as against 10,034 men.

Similar indications are noted in the 40th and 50th wards, where the women's total vote was only slightly below that of the men, and the number of straight ballots voted amounted to only 29 per cent in each case. Yet 57 per cent of the ballots were cast straight in the 11th and the 24th wards, where men predominated.

"In 23 wards," the bulletin states, "two-thirds of the ballots were split. These included the big residential wards on the north side, and the 5th and 7th on the south side. The 13 wards where straight ballots won out included the 'river wards.' The 1st ward, the loop, had the highest percentage of straight ballots, 69 per cent."

See Avoidance of Circle.
In the February issue of the organization's bulletin, the Illinois Voter, out today, discussion of the study includes a statement that only 40 per cent of the ballots cast in Chicago in the last election were voted straight, while 60 per cent were split.

This, according to Mrs. Jamieson, in a clear indication that the voters of the state do not care for the easy party circle method of voting, especially as the results throughout the state correspond with those in Chicago.

League members argue that the Massachusetts style of ballot, where the names of all candidates with their party affiliations are grouped together under the title of the office they seek, would be welcomed in Illinois. It was in this form that the Australian ballot came to America, they recall, but Illinois in 1891 adopted the party column, party circle type, offering the advantage to the indiscriminating citizen who "votes it straight."

They are citing particularly the ludicrous length of the judicial ballot in the Nov. 6 election, which under the Massachusetts style would be shortened to about one-sixth of its size.

HIGH COST OF REGISTRATION TO SPUR REFORM

Chicago's registration Tuesday, at a cost of $12.41 for each newly enrolled voter, is to be used as an object lesson in support of election reform bills at Springfield. County Judge E. K. Jarecki said yesterday that measures will be again introduced for a central and continuous registration. This is a simplification of method which has been advocated for years.

If the proposed machinery were set up voters on moving would notify the election board, who would check up and enroll them at the new address, erasing the names from the old. The argument is it would add to the convenience of the electors, reduce fraud, and the work would be done in periods when operations are slack at the election board.

"I have been pointing out the costliness of intermediate registration for years," said Judge Jarecki. "The system can be easily simplified. A bill went through in 1925, but was vetoed. At that time I estimated that a central and continuous registration would save at least $500,000 a year to the taxpayers, to say nothing of the convenience to the voters. The time is ripe."

CHICAGO TELLS TRANSIT GROUP WHAT IT WANTS

Citizen Committee Hears
All Sides of Problem.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Eighteen speeches were made yesterday to the citizen committee appointed by Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson to aid in a solution of the Chicago transportation problem. Four of the speakers, Attorneys James Sheehan, Patrick J. Lucey, Harry L. Weber and Weymouth Kirkland, represented the surface and elevated lines. John Maynard Harlan, attorney for the F. J. Lisman plan, and Otto Schusterman, attorney for the Chicago Subway Engineering company, represented their clients. The other who spoke represented civic and business organizations.

When the public hearing had been concluded because no one else desired to discuss the proposed legislation, the citizens committee—James Simpson, Col. A. A. Sprague, John A. Carroll, Joseph R. Noel and Prof. Charles M. Thompson—appeared surprised there had been no vigorous opposition to the enabling legislation under consideration.

Impressions from Hearing.

From all of the talk four impressions were obtainable, as follows:

1. The companies and the city are as close together—or as far apart—as they have been.

2. The public, as represented by the speakers, is uncertain of its opinion on enabling legislation.

3. The public desires more and faster transit facilities as soon as procurable.

4. The public desires ample transportation for the entire metropolitan area, stretching from Waukegan on the north to Elgin and Aurora on the west, Joliet and Chicago Heights on the south and well into the industrial district of Indiana.

Aldermen Remain Silent.

The aldermen, as represented by Attorneys Frederick Bangs and John G. Drennan, remained silent, deeming their written statement as sufficient explanation of their attitude. But they got much support from the city club, which has made an extensive study of transportation.

Clifton R. Bechtel from that organization said that it stood for a "conditional indefinite permit," as the aldermen have announced. Also, as the aldermen desire and the companies do not, Mr. Bechtel said that the council should be given the power to fix the valuation, terms of acquisition, fares, accounting, depreciation, and rate of return on capital invested in the ordinance. He would have the Illinois commerce commission pass on all securities issued and a local commission on all service and extensions.

Charles R. Simons, another spokesman for the city club, said that his organization is "opposed to any legislation which will tend itself to a perpetual franchise." But he urged that

ROCK ISLAND ENGINEER, ON JOB FOR 48 YEARS, WILL RETIRE TODAY

When the Rocky Mountains limited, crack train of the Rock Island railroad, comes into the La Salle street station this morning, its engineer, Louis M. Sheppard, 6750 Westworth avenue, will bid farewell to the train he has guided for the last ten years. Mr. Sheppard entered the employ of the Rock Island 48 years ago, becoming an engineer eight years later. L. C. Fritch, vice president, in charge of operation, congratulated him yesterday upon his "long and faithful service."

The city has given a free hand to require an ordinance which would insure service at a reasonable cost.

Thomas F. Deuther, secretary of the Northwest Side Commercial association, said he could not see how it is possible to have an ordinance franchise until enabling legislation is obtained. He said that he is acquainted with 70 per cent of the legislators and offered his aid in obtaining the legislation. But he vigorously opposed the aldermanic plan of home rule on transit matters.

"The city council has had control for 56 years," Mr. Deuther said. "In view of the recent disclosures in the sanitary district, why should any one local control of all local transportation be lodged in a commission appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the city council? I suggest a commission of not more than seven, one to be appointed by the mayor, another by the president of the county board and the others by the governor."

E. C. Hart, president of the Fidelity Trust and Savings bank, and eight other north side bankers, on the other hand, expressed a preference for an intermediate franchise, because they said they thought the cost would be lower for the car riders.

Harlan Creates a Stir.

The only touch of excitement during the proceedings came with the speech of Attorney Harlan. His clients, F. J. Lisman and associates, desire a franchise for the surface lines under existing law, with a provision for city ownership.

"The present companies look on municipal ownership as ridiculous for the street cars and elevated lines," said Mr. Harlan, "but they insist that the city shall build and own the subways and turn them over to these companies to operate."

"Are you not a director of the Commonwealth Edison company?" asked Mr. Harlan of Chairman Simpson. The chairman nodded "yes" and Mr. Harlan went on: "And you are a director of the Illinois Merchants bank, aren't you?" "You are not here to ask questions," interrupted Col. Sprague. "You are here to be heard on enabling legislation."

"What I was going to suggest," went on Mr. Harlan, "is that a committee of all the bankers interested in the traction problem interrogate Mr. Lisman to ascertain if there are any real flaws in his plan. He is willing to submit to the most rigid questioning."

Offers Subway Building Plan.

Attorney Schusterman for the Subway Engineering company said he believed the public wanted a comprehensive subway system, which his client is prepared to build on a fixed term franchise of 60 years.

"Our plan does not contemplate use of special assessments or the city's traction fund," he added.

H. H. Haylett, managing director of the Greater South Side Chamber of Commerce, said his constituency desires the best service at a fair cost.

Mrs. W. H. Wright, representing the council of suburban real estate organizations, made a plea for the metropolitan area.

"We want transportation that will permit us to come into the heart of Chicago daily," she said. "We want it in every direction and we want that transportation to be rapid."

The next job of the citizens committee is to harmonize the views of the city and companies into bills to be presented to the legislature.

BOMB FOUND AT HOME OF REFORM LEAGUE OFFICIAL

A bomb, the fuse of which had been extinguished, was found early yesterday morning in the vestibule of a building at 6711 Perry avenue, the home of Daniel L. Gilday, vice president of the Better Government association and secretary and superintendent of the Englewood Law and Order league.

The bomb, composed of twelve sticks of dynamite, was found by Fred Thomas, occupying the apartment above Mr. Gilday. Thomas notified Mr. Gilday, who took it to the detective bureau.

It was the second bomb aimed at Mr. Gilday. In March, 1925, a time bomb wrecked the front porch of the Gilday home. He declined to make a statement last night, but hinted that the motive for the attempted bombing is his activity in the Englewood Law and Order league.

Forty-three raids on soft drink parlors in the Englewood district have been made by federal agents through information supplied by the league, he said.

Mrs. Dorothy Troup Files Answer in Divorce Suit

Mrs. Dorothy Poppenhusen Troup yesterday filed an answer in the Lake county court to the divorce bill of her husband, Clarence G. Troup, 123 Telegraph road, Lake Forest. She denied her husband's charge of infidelity and her attorney declared she would later file a cross bill, also seeking a divorce.

THE RECORD-BREAKING NEW NASH "400"

The New NASH "400"

is the only car exhibited at the show with all the outstanding features shown below as regular equipment at no extra cost....

Twin-Ignition Motor

For more power and speed with greater economy of gasoline than possible with single ignition. At every speed this new Nash Twin-Ignition motor delivers wonderful performance. Instant, alert get-away and surpassing smoothness through the full range of power and speed.

Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication

Press a pedal and 21 points, including all spring shackles are oiled automatically and instantly under 100 pounds pressure. Saves both time and money. One of the greatest features of convenience and economy ever presented to motorists.

Houdaille Shock Absorbers

These Houdailles are especially engineered by Nash to the new "400" with outboard mounting, new to the industry and exclusive to Nash. They are double-acting—softening the action of the springs both when depressed and on the rebound and giving you fullest riding ease.

Front and Rear Bumpers

These are the finest bumpers built, exceptionally beautiful and strong. They are integrally designed by Nash to harmonize perfectly with the new "400" Salon body design. As regular equipment at no extra cost they contribute to the remarkably low Nash price, delivered, in this city.

World's Easiest Driver Control

We challenge the world on this new "400" feature. Nowhere is there another car so marvelously easy to steer and turn and park, or with such effortless clutch action as the new Nash "400". Nash is far ahead of the industry in ease of driver control.

7-Bearing Crankshaft

This is the world's finest practice—expensive but worth it—because of finer performance than is possible with fewer bearings. Each connecting rod is given maximum support by big bearings on both sides. This is the modern type of engineering.

Refreshing Comfort

The deep, soft cushions, fastened to the body, the wide seats, the roominess of the Nash "400" interior, all help to bring you to the end of every ride refreshed beyond anything in your whole motor car experience. On the longest trip you rest as you ride.

Costly Car Interior Finish

Costly upholstery and luxurious craftsmanship distinguish the new Nash "400" interiors at once from competitive cars. You can see the difference the instant you open the door. Nash "400" interior finish is matched only by the very highest-priced cars.

CHRYSLER WARNS U. S. TO INCREASE AUTO FACILITIES

Adequate Roads Lacking as Sales Soar Upward.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

Walter P. Chrysler, head of the Chrysler group in automotive production, voiced warning on the subject of inadequate motor facilities yesterday, especially in view of the fact that the automobile industry is producing more cars than the country is capable of absorbing.

Mr. Chrysler was in Chicago for the annual show and to address the distribution organizations of the "various Chrysler units. While the keynote of his talk was the task lying before sales forces in 1929, he devoted some time to the lagging highway situation.

Nearing 35,000,000 Mark.

"We are not far from 35,000,000 motor cars in America," Mr. Chrysler said, "but it will take us as long to reach that number as it takes the country to increase the highway capacity to hold them."

Praises Chicago's Program.

"Chicago is doing a good job of re-planning and rebuilding, but in the next few years all achievements to date will be thrown into obscurity. As Chicago stands, the city is in advance of other metropolitan areas in the country and its works are worthy of study by other communities."

The question of traffic facilities was also emphasized at the annual meeting of the directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which includes in its membership all automobile manufacturing concerns in America, during a session at the Stevens hotel yesterday.

"Vehicular traffic problems are handled in Chicago better than in any other large city in the world," Alfred Reeves, general manager, said. "The two-level thoroughfare, in particular, will be copied extensively throughout the world, and as I understand it, this method of speeding motor traffic is now to be greatly expanded within Chicago itself."

4 1/2 Million Cars in 1928.

Official reports placed the automobile production figure for 1928 at 4,695,766, of which 310,000 were exported to foreign countries.

Tonight at the Congress hotel the Old Timers' club (now called the Five Hundred) will hold its frolic and officially install John N. Willys as holder of card No. 1. Other pioneer leaders

Auto Show Notes

John N. Willys announced yesterday the appointment of Thomas J. Hay, Inc., as Chicago distributor for the Willys Knight line. Mr. Hay, who has been the Chandler distributor here for years, has been in the "personal transportation" business since bicycles first became rampant. In 1900 he left the "bikes" for the automobile, joining the old National at Indianapolis. In 1905 he came to Chicago as manager of the Ford branch, and has been a prominent factor in Chicago's motor field ever since.

Distributors, field men and dealers of the Reo line will hold their annual business meeting and banquet at the Congress hotel this evening, when C. E. Eldridge, general sales manager, will outline the 1929 campaign.

The Durant organization will gather at the Palmer house at noon today to hear a message of encouragement from P. J. Haynes, newly chosen president. Zae Dunlap, local branch manager, is to preside.

Thus far more than 30,000 persons a day have visited the General Motors exhibition at the Stevens hotel, with an estimated total of 95,000 at closing last night. A striking phase of the exhibit is the trend toward big motor cars even in the low priced field, including such types as Chevrolet, Pontiac and Oldsmobile. One of the attractions is a replica of the General Motors 1345 acre proving ground, upon which miniature cars are propelled over miles of test roads.

G. M. Williams, president, and T. M. Jarrard, sales director of Marmon, will be the principal speakers at Marmon's midwest meeting at the Blackstone hotel today.

of the industry drafted to add in the frolic are Walter P. Chrysler, Charles W. Nash, Edsel Ford, and Cliff Durant. Fred Duesenberg is secretary treasurer and the directors are Capt. Ed. V. Rickenbacker, Earl Moore, E. de Guichard, H. P. Branstetter, W. L. Hugheson, P. J. Black, and W. J. Schlenger.

ICE PRISONERS

Holland, Mich., Jan. 30.—(U. P.)—Approximately 75 persons who have been manacled in a Lake Michigan ice field for more than two days, were brought to shore this afternoon. They were the crew and passengers of the Grand Trunk Car ferries, Madison and Grand Rapids. The two boats finally pulled out of the ice field without mishap.

The ferries Milwaukee and Grand Haven still are held in the ice. Approximately sixty persons are on them, but an ample supply of provisions and coal gives assurance against suffering.

The present blizzard is termed the most serious since 1917, when ice floes blocked the entire line between here and Milwaukee.

MADRID, Jan. 30.—(U. P.)—Dr. Saura, cardinal primate of Spain, in a pastoral letter today forthrightly rebuffed an attempt to affiliate in any way with secret organizations. He condemned Rotary clubs, women's clubs, benevolent societies and any other organization of similar nature.

Official reports placed the automobile production figure for 1928 at 4,695,766, of which 310,000 were exported to foreign countries.

ACT TO PREVENT BOOST IN RETAIL PRICE OF MILK

Don't Make Consumer Pay, Kegels Warns.

The city health department and the city council yesterday took a decided stand against a raise in the price of milk to the consumer as the result of arbitration of the milk controversy. Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegels sent a letter to the arbitration committee in which he declared that any increase in price would cause him to invoke action by the city council. Later in the day the council appointed a committee to meet with Dr. Kegels today to discuss plans for blocking any possible increase in the retail price. The arbitration committee, composed of three dealers and three producers, is meeting daily at the Hotel La Salle to work out a plan involving all phases of the industry. The plan will be presented to Dr. Clyde L. King of Philadelphia, who was called in last week to act as arbitrator in the price war, when he returns to Chicago on Saturday.

It was said yesterday that Dr. King favors the farmers in their demand for an additional 35 cents per hundred pounds, and it was also rumored that the dealers have agreed among themselves to raise the price to the consumer from 14 to 15 cents a quart, in case the farmers get their demand of $2.85 a hundred pounds.

In his letter to the committee Dr. Kegels said that if the milk price is raised it will be necessary to place milk as a commodity on a public utility basis. The letter, in part, said: "Legal precedent establishes that the city may subject the distribution of milk to the rules and regulations of a public utility. I have requested cooperation from various civic groups and the city council to take immediate steps to that end, if the committee does not take the suggestions here included into consideration." The council acted after Ald. Leonard A. Grossman (5th) had presented a resolution in which he asked that the public have some voice in the matter.

Minister, Rundown, Sick, Gains 7 Lbs. in 3 Weeks

Put Good, Solid Flesh on Those Ugly Bones

Get a Fine, Clear Complexion

O.L.Y. Co.

After a 7 weeks' revival campaign I was so entirely run-down and had lost flesh so rapidly I became excited about my condition. My wife and members urged me to do something.

"Then I saw your advertisement of IRONIZED YEAST and decided to give it a 3 weeks' trial. After 2 weeks I found my strength returning and the dull tired feeling gone. At the end of the 3 weeks I had gained 7 lbs. and was myself again. I can recommend IRONIZED YEAST gladly."

Stop Being a "Skinny" Weakling

Imagine just 3 weeks to change from a "skinny", tired, run-down person that nobody thinks much of, to a strong, well-developed, "peppy" man or woman that everybody admires. Many letters like the minister's tell how ugly hollows in face and neck vanish. "Broemistic" flanks become gracefully rounded and chubby. Tired feeling disappears. Blemished skin clears quickly. Only when YEAST is finished is it so wonderfully effective—far from it. It is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of YEAST. That's why IRONIZED YEAST works so marvelously. Pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle. Safe for everybody. Never causes gas or bloating. Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with results, your money back instantly.

What Doctors All Over Say

"Brewer's Yeast has in gastro-intestinal disorders and as a weight builder."

"Have seen good results with Yeast for constipation and loss of appetite. Brewer's Yeast gives better results."

"The above are extracts from the reports of hundreds of well known physicians all over the United States. For particulars, write to O.L.Y. Co., 110 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. Reports are on file at our office, however, and may be seen at any time. Note the preference for Brewer's Yeast, the kind used in IRONIZED YEAST."

RUM GUARD WHO SHOT HANSON TO FACE NEW TRIAL

Jury Disagrees; 9 to 3 for Conviction.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Elmhurst, N. Y., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—

A jury in the Glenn Jennings case, is determined to fight to a federal court to finish the question of whether prohibition enforcement agents may shoot innocent citizens and escape punishment on plea of accident or suspicion their victim might be a rum runner. This was the statement of Raymond A. Knowles, Jennings' attorney, immediately after the jurors reported their inability to come to a decision.

Admits the Shooting.
Jennings is 21 years old and a member of the United States coast guard. He admitted he shot and fatally wounded Jacob D. Hanson on a lonely road outside of the Falls May 6, 1928, but although dressed in rough clothing, having the possible appearance of a hijacker or highwayman, he pleaded he had the right to believe Hanson was running rum from the Canadian border and to fire five shots into Hanson's car.

The jury deliberated 20 hours, from early Tuesday afternoon until shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. The jurors took ten ballots. At one point they had stood 11 to 1 for convicting Jennings. The most ever in favor of acquittal was four.

New Trial a Certainty.
Jennings must go to trial again at the next term of the federal court, prosecutor Knowles has determined.

That But U. S. Attorney Templeton will not have the case tried in the Buffalo or Niagara Falls district. Hanson was a popular man there, and feeling there is high respect for the case is expected to be tried again some time in May.

YOUTH ON TRIAL FOR THRILL SLAYING PUTS BLAME ON SCHOOL PAL

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The trial of Richard G. Gallogly, accused of the murder of a drug store clerk in a holdup, was sped to a spectacular climax here today when the youth read to the jury prepared statement denying participation in the crime and placing full responsibility upon his fellow college student, George R. Harsh.

He declared his only part in the affair was an attempt to dissuade Harsh from robbing the store, and added that he announced while they were in the store that he would try to prevent the robbery.

Gallogly, member of a socially prominent family here, expressed the belief that drink caused Harsh to essay the holdup. He said he followed Harsh to the door of the store in an effort to stop him.

The appearance on the stand of the 19 year old defendant as the sole defense witness followed that of Jack Mahoney, who, as chief witness for the prosecution, had told of driving Harsh and Gallogly to and from the scene of the holdup without knowing until afterward that a robbery was contemplated.

Under cross-examination, Mahoney denied he ever had engaged in a hold-up with Harsh. The two youths, he said, picked him up on the campus at Oglethorpe university.

That But U. S. Attorney Templeton will not have the case tried in the Buffalo or Niagara Falls district. Hanson was a popular man there, and feeling there is high respect for the case is expected to be tried again some time in May.

CONGRESS SEES REVOLT AGAINST DRY DICTATION

Even Indiana Members Oppose a Whip.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Growing house resentment against attempts of the Anti-Saloon league to drag congress into appropriating $34,000,000 additional for prohibition enforcement fared into open revolt in half a dozen state delegations today. The rebellion appeared so general, particularly among Republican drys, that house leaders predicted defeat of the proposal. The show down will come tomorrow when a combination of southern dry Democrats and eastern dripping wets will seek to kill a special rule under which the deficiency supply bill with the senate's $34,000,000 rider would be sent to conference without pledging the house conferees to either accept the prohibition amendment or bring it back to the house floor for a separate vote.

Indiana Defies Shumaker.
Indiana Republicans were the first to desert the Anti-Saloon league's ranks today and defy the wrath of H. S. Shumaker, league superintendent and dry boss in their state. Shumaker, now under sentence to serve sixty days on the state penal farm for contempt of the Indiana state Supreme court, wired every member of the state delegation in the house, demanding support of the amendment sponsored by Senator W. J. Harris (Dem., Ind.). Representative Will R. Wood (Rep., Ind.), ranking majority member of the appropriations committee and leader of the fight against the Harris proposal, was the first to answer Shumaker. "The Harris amendment," he telegraphed to the league official, "is the worst blow ever aimed at prohibition. No friend of prohibition knowing the facts will support it. All the enemies of prohibition are lined up in favor of it. Together with the discredited politicians who supported Smith. You should be lending your efforts to defeat it. I will do all I can to defeat it."

Revolt in Downstate Illinois.
Downstate Republican members of the Illinois delegation joined the general desertion from the league standard and members who in the past have been listed as among the most faithful of the dry organization's followers declared their intention to vote against the Harris amendment. The defection of the Illinois members was considered unusually significant in view of the fact that F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, who first sought to drive the house into line behind the senate amendment, was formerly superintendent of the Illinois state league.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon took another fling at the Harris proposal today in a letter to Rep. Daniel R. Anthony Jr. (Rep., Kas.), chairman of the house appropriations committee, reiterating his contention that the allotment of such a substantial sum before a definite program for expansion of enforcement machinery has been adopted would be unwise.

ARMY WORRIED OVER GOLD BRAID SCARCITY FOR NEW UNIFORMS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(AP)—A scarcity of gold braid, gold lace and embroidery, and other gold ornaments necessary for the newly authorized blue dress uniform for the army is worrying Quartermaster General Cheatham.

He may have to send to France for a supply, as that country is apparently the only one able to supply the new demand. As long as the olive drab uniform was worn exclusively there was little need for the gold ornaments in this country.

You baseball bugs can pick your own heroes—Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby, old Alex, or Andy Cohen—but our hero reached town yesterday and we argue that he is by all odds baseball's most heroic figure.

We're talking about Henry Gramp, Jr., for the last three years a fixture on the Cub pitching staff—a young man who has survived three full seasons and hasn't pitched a ball game.

Hank, sometimes known as the Bronx's most handsome steamfitter, laid away his wrenches, his blowtorch, and his white lead last week and yesterday arrived at Cub headquarters from New York to assure the management he is not a holdout.

Hank's a Fixture with Cubs.

It has appeared in the public prints that Henry had been sold down the river, but Cub officials announced that the club would not think of trying for a pennant without Hank on the roster.

All other major league clubs rotate the job of pitching in batting practice among pitchers several days away from any possible turn to pitch. Not so the Cubs—that's Hank's job 154 days of the season, although he only works a half shift when a left hander is slated by the opposition.

Mr. Gramp's success is due to his unusual talent for impersonation. Hank is informed each day as to who is going to pitch against the Cubs. Right then is when his powers of mimicry come into play. With the aid of just a tin bit of putty and grease paint he is able to impersonate the pitcher in appearance as well as in pitching style. A man like that can't help being useful.

He Does His Work Well.

It is a playful whimsy of fate that to try to knock baseballs down the front of the batting practice pitcher, Hank doesn't mind this spirit and never has swallowed a baseball, although he has had numerous narrow escapes.

Gramp never complains that his light is being hidden under a bushel. His smile is perpetual. He is content. Other ball players nervously wonder what each day holds for him. Hank knows what he's going to do. And he does it well, our hero does!

CUBS' ROSTER OUT

The Cubs today will circulate their annual roster and pictorial gallery of Wrigley notable players, interspersed with a few glimpses of Catalina, palms, mountains and peaceful valleys.

No surprises in the form of deletions or additions to the player list are contained in the folder. Announcements at the time of purchase covered all the newcomers whose names appear in the roster presentation.

In addition to the player data and the photographic views, the publication gives considerable space to the extensive exhibition series which will carry the club to Los Angeles, Phoenix, El Paso, San Antonio, Beaumont, and Kansas City before it returns to open the season at home on April 16.

Worth Defeats Fleig; Tightens Cue Lead Grip

Jerry Worth, defending champion, climbed within one game of retaining his state amateur 18.2 ball line billiard crown last night. The titleholder defeated Al Fleig, 250 to 118, turning in the best game of the tournament by running out his string in 15 innings. The match was played at Minsky's, 47 West Madison street.

Adolph Rodell set a new high run record for the current meet with a stunner of 53, which enabled him to score a 250 to 199 victory over Don Carlos Moreland of Clinton, Ill. Moreland later completed his series of games with a record of one won and three lost by defeating James Barrels, 250 to 210, in 44 frames.

Only one match will be played today. Fleig meeting Barrels at the same room at 7:30 p. m. Two matches Friday night will complete the tournament.

NEW ORLEANS TUFF FAIS SEE 80-1 SHOT

THE GUMPS—MARY, MARY, QUITE CONTRARY

SAUCY SUE GETS HEAD DECISION IN BIG UPSET

Corpsant Wins for Favorite Players.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—The long shots which have been a feature of the winter racing continued to march home at the Fair Grounds this afternoon, when Saucy Sue scored in a hot finish and set the players on fire by paying $162.44 for a $2 ticket.

Only a head behind Saucy Sue came Golden Slight, another long shot, which paid $59.50 to place. The ancient stake horse, Horologue, now 10 years old, and owned and trained by T. Coffey, was third, paying $1.44 to show. Last in the field of twelve was the favorite, Mayberry.

Last Long Enough.

Saucy Sue's victory was eked out after she tired in the last furlong and just lasted to hold off Golden Slight, which finished gamely. Horologue, showing a return to the gallantry which made him a formidable campaigner years ago, finished fastest of all, and was only a length behind Golden Slight after coming up from next to last position.

Jockey L. Jones was the rider of the winner, and he scored two victories during the afternoon. In the sixth race Jones brought Mamma, the favorite, home in front to complete his double.

Corpsant Drives Home.

The players of favorites staged a comeback in the Theater Trophy purse, an event at a mile and an eighth, which featured the program. Corpsant, backed to the exclusion of the others, rallied in the stretch under Jockey Cottrell's hand riding and was up to be an easy winner over Finland, which had made the early pace. Peter Prim was third. Corpsant paid $4.92 in the mutuels.

Three year olds, several eligible to the $10,000 New Orleans handicap, to be run on Friday, clashed in the secondary feature. War Buddy, the favorite, was all but left at the post, and the lightly regarded Laurie wound up the winner, with Halden's Choice second and La Paloma third. The winner paid $10.44.

CHARMING LADY WINS

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—The Palm Island purse, a dash for three olds at six furlongs, featured the racing program here today and it was won by Charming Lady which raced in the silks of E. E. Major. She beat Miss Onine from Chicago O'Brien's stable by a head with Laffair, heavily backed third. It was a ragged race and Grey March, on which there had been considerable of a plunge, was left at the post. It was the second time he had refused to leave the barrier and it is expected he will be barred from starting in future races here.

The Everglades purse at a mile and a sixteenth was the secondary feature and Rejuvenation won it with My Son second and Pygmy third. Jockey Barnes had Rejuvenation in front nearly all the way and won with considerable to spare.

Papa Lenglen Calls Marriage Talk "Rubbish"

NICE, France, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The return of Suzanne Lenglen to France promises to be as exciting as was her departure from America. Papa Lenglen, his neighbors say, is well high in the public's estimation, which his daughter received in local papers when the international tennis star rowed with New York newspaper photographers at the pier.

M. Lenglen, according to family friends, opposed the American trip in the first place, contending Suzanne should do nothing that would bring her into the limelight. He feared her impetuosity would create trouble.

The door of the Lenglen villa is barred against reporters and to all telephone inquiries he says: "I know nothing. Any talk about Suzanne's marriage to Baldwin M. Baldwin is rubbish."

Friends say he has not been the same since his daughter listened to the arguments of C. C. Fyle and turned professional. Although the money that resulted saved the Lenglen household, the father of the family has remained depressed. He daily craves the road to the tennis club which he founded, chooses a seat in the sun and sits there for hours.

According to instructions from relatives, the body will be placed aboard a ship for Key West tomorrow morning, accompanied by a grandnephew of the veteran turkman, Eugene Cheek.

SUNDAY BASEBALL MEASURE GETS O. K. IN BOSTON

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Ending a battle that began even before the voters took their choice in November, Mayor Nichols today signed the city council order ratifying the professional Sunday sports bill and granting licenses to the Boston Braves and Boston Red Sox. These are the only professional clubs that have yet applied for Sunday licenses under the new ordinance.

Each club must agree also that no increase in prices will be made for Sunday baseball, and it is said the club members have reached an understanding with city officials on this point.

Rochester Beats Hakoahs in Overtime Period, 26-22

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The Rochester Centrals displayed a passing game that was too fast and too smart for New York's Hakoahs tonight in an American Basketball league clash and came out ahead by a 26 to 22 score after an overtime period.

MIAMI GIVES BIG RECEPTION TO STRIBLING

Gov. Emmerson Gets Ringside Seat.

Fight Decisions

At Cincinnati, O.—Babe Keller defeated Eddie Meyers (19).

At Akron, O.—Eddie Shea stopped Joe Malone (15). Paul Zwick stopped Eddie Larson (15).

At Providence, R.I.—Jack Fayne knocked out Leo Mitchell (7).

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 30.—(AP)—W. L. [Young] Stribling, bearing the hopes of the south in his campaign for the heavyweight title, arrived today to pitch his training camp and prepare for his battle with Jack Sharkey of Boston at Miami Beach, Feb. 27.

Stribling, apparently in the pink of condition, was accompanied by his wife and two children, and his brother, Baby Stribling, a lightweight.

The youthful Georgia heavyweight, no stranger in Miami, was the center of an admiring throng wherever he went, and was given a reception by the crowd at the Miami Beach Kennel club when he appeared there tonight in company with Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, who is promoting the bout.

Jack Gives a Dinner.

Dempsey tonight was host at a dinner party in honor of Stribling who is the first of the principals to arrive for the bout planned by the late Tex Rickard as an elimination fight in the tournament to choose a successor to Gene Tunney.

Stribling's arrival interrupted Dempsey in a busy day during which he opened the sales office for tickets for the fight. Sales, Jack said, already have approached the $150,000 mark. Tickets for mail reservations were mailed today from the office of the Madison Square Garden corporation, backers of the bout.

Dempsey has followed one of the regulations in Tex Rickard's book of rules in making a bid for and getting the assurance of attendance of society members to his fistic drama at Flamingo park.

Society to Attend.

Reservations and cash sales of tickets have been made at the box office by members of the Miami, Miami Beach, and Palm Beach society groups, while northern society is equally represented.

Jack announced today that Govs. Henry C. Caulfield of Missouri, Louis B. Emerson of Illinois and Fred W. Green, Michigan, had bought tickets.

Dempsey refused to comment on a statement by Madison Square Garden officials in New York City that he would meet the winner of a series of elimination bouts for the heavyweight championship of the world in September.

Stribling declared at the dinner given in his honor that he was in excellent condition and that he was confident of a victory.

SHARKEY GOES SOUTH

Boston, Mass., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, started his quest for the title vacated by Gene Tunney when he boarded a train here tonight for Miami, Fla., to prepare for his bout with Young Stribling on Feb. 27.

Sharkey, accompanied by his wife, Johnny Buckley, his manager, and Mrs. Buckley, expected to arrive in Miami on Friday. He said he intended to rest several days before resuming his training.

Babe Keller Outprints Eddie Myers of Chicago

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Babe Keller, Toledo, outpointed Eddie Meyers, Chicago, bantamweight, in ten rounds here tonight. Vincent Hambright, Cincinnati junior welterweight, knocked out Jackie Reynolds, Muncie, Ind., in the fourth round of their eight round match.

WINNETKA DISSIPATION.

EAR HARVEY: Some of us out in Winnetka have revived the old game of [now don't laugh] Ping-Pong. We have regular tournaments 'en everything' and the winner will be champion. If you don't believe it's a game for real He-Men and She-Women, just buy a set and try it out.

When you find a set of players who get the forehand and backhand Lawford smashes the way this bunch does, you'll know you're in fast company for fair.

All the tennis strokes can be duplicated and unless you have seen some gang play like ours, you have no idea what a bully, fast, skillful game Ping-Pong can be. And it's great exercise, honest!

A Lost Flask.

Has any one seen a silver flask with The Wake's name on it? One was lost by some one somewhere between the C. A. A. and Evanston. Of course, it doesn't mean much because silver flasks are not used any more since the Volstead act, but it was a golf prize—we don't remember whether for high gross or low net—and we seldom win golf prizes.

Another Millionaire Set to Build Garden, N. Y. Hears

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 30.—A brisk and talkative gentleman giving his name as Edwin Cole has topped up with New York since the death of Tex Rickard, claiming to represent a brand new coterie of millionaires.

Mr. Cole's principal millionaire is named as William Bartlett of Atlantic City, he states that he has a large number of other millionaires on leash and promises to let contracts, back up a steam shovel, and start building his super-garden almost immediately. Or perhaps it would be correct to say that he threatens to do so, for the idea of another garden full of millionaires is rather disturbing.

Fugazy Prolif: Builder.

Mr. Humbert Fugazy, the great air castle aristocrat who has been building super-aeranas in the back rooms of refreshment stores for years, sometimes building whole Plety Wiggly chains of them in a single night, is to be something important in the new enterprise. I do not quite get his function in the scheme, but I gather that he is going to do something big because he is always going to do something big.

If the new group of millionaires ever go so far as to have lettersheads printed they will owe it to Mr. Fugazy to put his name on the stationery as a vice president in charge of something, perhaps public relations, because they are using the specifications of one of his air castles. I know this is so because I was sitting with him in a back room in Brooklyn the night that he pushed back the sedels and, drawing on the bare table with a wet forefinger, sketched a magnificent air castle with spires and shot towers, and a landing stage on the roof for

N.U. SWIMMERSTO INVADE WEST ON 7,000 MILE TRIP

Schedule Ten Meets in Sixteen Days.

Northwestern university, for 15 years nationally famous for its aquatic teams, will send the eight leading swimmers of this season's squad on a 7,000 mile invasion of the far west next week, it was announced at the athletic department offices yesterday.

Formal permission to allow the commerce school swimmers to make the trip is expected to be granted this morning at the regular meeting of a faculty committee of the college of commerce. The other faculties concerned already have sanctioned the proposed trip.

Team Leaves Next Week.

The athletes will leave next Thursday, and will be gone sixteen days, during which the leading college and athletic club teams of the west will be met in nine dual meets and as many water polo games. Most of the competition has been scheduled for Los Angeles, Oregon and Utah.

The swimmers chosen for the trip are Capt. Walter Colbath, Richard Hinch, Omar Miller, Albert Schwartz, Donald Peterson, Mark Wicks, Edward Lennox and William Covode. They will be accompanied by Coach Tom Robinson, who has been at the head of Purple aquatics since 1909, and Max Hayford of the business department.

Five are All-Americans.

Five of the eight swimmers were placed on the National Collegiate Athletic association's all-American swimming team last year, two of them are national intercollegiate champions and three national college records are held by two of their number.

Northwestern has won nine of the last fourteen Western conference swimming championships and during that time has won three national championships. The announced itinerary of the trip follows:

Feb. 11—Oregon, Apples at Corvallis. Feb. 12—University of Oregon at Eugene. Feb. 14—Leland Stanford at Palo Alto, Cal. Feb. 15—Los Angeles A. C. at Los Angeles, Cal. Feb. 16—Long Beach A. C. at Long Beach, Cal. Feb. 17—University of California, southern branch, at Los Angeles (polo only). Feb. 18—University of Southern California at Los Angeles. Feb. 19—Brigham Young university at Provo, Utah. Feb. 20—University of Utah at Salt Lake City. Feb. 22—George Washington university at St. Louis.

There is a possibility that the Brigham Young and Washington university meets may be canceled and others substituted.

Lindstrom a Holdout? At Least He's Hiding Out

New York rumors yesterday had it that Fred Lindstrom, 466 West 26th street, ball player on the New York Giants for several seasons, was a holdout. At the ball player's home it was said he was not in and that his whereabouts was unknown to members of his family.

Plan Was Fascinating.

"Now, here," Mr. Fugazy would say, shoving the sedels a little farther back and reaching wide across the table, "is where we will have the yacht landing for the millionaires coming down from Tuxedo. And here," as he dipped his finger in the beer puddle on the table to go on with the drawing, "is where we will have the 500 mile automobile race. Or we might have it over here and use this space for the indoor ocean where we will hold the speed boat races. We expect to have a seating capacity of about 150,000 for a prize fight, and a thing about the seating arrangement will be that every seat will be a ring-side seat."

It was a fascinating plan and it all seemed feasible there in the back room of the refreshment resort in Brooklyn. Somehow impossible things always seem feasible with the sedels on the table. But, unfortunately, the clock struck three and the waiters who had been yawning over by the automatic piano with the stained glass windows and the glass stained glass, closed in and removed the sedels, and we turned to get our hats and leave.

And, as we passed the table on the way out, I saw a solid hand containing a moist and moldy towel make one wide, sweeping pass over the festive board.

"Don't I exclaimed. 'Hold it.' But one swipe of a bartender's towel had completely obliterated Humbert Fugazy's arena, yacht landing, plane deck, towers, 150,000 ring-side seats, and all.

Millionaires Too Common.

The plan seemed less feasible in the morning and it has seemed less feasible every hour since then, for I have not had the pleasure of hoisting sedels with Mr. Fugazy in Brooklyn since that night.

I hesitate to admonish millionaires, because, as Mr. Rickard used to say, they are all fine people, but I have an impression, nevertheless, that the customers are becoming sick of millionaires. The millionaire was Mr. Rickard's discovery in the first place, and

NAME JUNE 24 AS DATE OF HUDSON ROWING REGATTA

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The intercollegiate rowing regatta on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie will be held this year on June 24, it was announced today by Maxwell Stevenson, chairman of the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing association.

Selection of this date means that the Poughkeepsie regatta will follow rather than precede, as it did last year, the Harvard-Yale crew race at New London, which is scheduled for June 21.

Varsity, junior varsity, and freshman crews will compete at Poughkeepsie and it is expected at this time that the entrants will be California, Washington, Wisconsin, Columbia, Cornell, Navy, and Syracuse. Wisconsin did not appear on the Hudson last year.

There will be no race of 150 pound crews. It was said, for the reason that tidal conditions on the river make impossible the holding of more than three events.

Butch Nowack Considered for Post at Marquette

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Marquette university athletic authorities today interviewed Butch Nowack, 1928 captain and all-American tackle of the Illinois football team, in regard to a coaching position at the local school. While Nowack is believed to be receiving serious consideration, no appointment will be made at Marquette for some time according to Athletic Director Conrad M. Jennings.

WATER TRAILS LEAD BECKER TO BIRD PARADISE

Finds Forty Pelicans Taking Nap.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Chertier, La., Jan. 30.—All the birds are water trails in the Rocketer wild life refuge near this little settlement on the live oak ridge, and it was over one of these water trails into the preserve that Do-land, the conservation warden, took this morning when we started for the island.

In order that a warden may cruise through the refuge in quick time, the island has cut canals in different sections of the preserve. They are narrow ribbons just wide enough for a small boat and an outboard motor.
The canals, which lead to the water trails, are great fun. They cruise up and down the water boulevards as if they owned them. This morning we started many of these birds when Doiland opened up the little motor and went as flying over the canal, which is nearly two miles is completely covered by a six foot wall of marsh grass.

Find Cabin on Stilts.

We headed for what Doiland called a high point of land on a bayou about a mile from the ocean beach, but we got an awful shock when we saw this high spot. It must have been all of three inches above the vast sweep of the marsh and "water prairie," which goes farther than you can see in any direction. A battered old muskrat trapper's cabin, resting on stilts, was located here. When judged by the most modest rules of campcraft, this was a wabout as a tening or cabin site as one were rubber clothes and didn't mind sleeping in the mud.

However, Doiland's prediction that the location with "exclusive water trails" was a good one for seeing birds was true. West of the trapper's cabin the bayou broadened out into a beautiful lagoon at least five blocks long. Tall marsh grass grew down to the water's edge. Looking across this lagoon to the most distant beach, we thought we were looking at a snow bank.

Had "Frogs in Throat."

But you can't have snow banks here when the temperature is in the "white drift" was a line of white pelicans (nearly forty of them) massed at the edge of the lagoon. Teal, mudhens, blue herons, and ring billed gulls were in sight.
It was shortly after already and the ducks were taking their siesta. Although most of these comical birds with enormous bills were quiet two three seemed to be suffering from indigestion or "frogs in their throat."
Because they kept stretching their bills and tilting their noses in the sky as if swallowing were a difficult task.

PREP SWIM MAY DRAW 25 TEAMS TO U. OF C. POOL

The largest entry list in the history of the Cook county swimming intercollegiate, staged by the University of Chicago, is expected for the fifth annual meet to be held in Bartlett gym
No. 8 and 9. Coach Edward McGillary anticipates that twenty-five teams will be represented.
Schurz looks like the favorite this year, but both Evanston and Tilden are close enough to Schurz that a single event can turn the meet. Schurz was the victor last year, with a total of 17 points, but Evanston was right behind with 25.

Wet the face. Spread Kolax on the

This is the secret. At least a real softens. Each hair and stubble swells

Lawndale Gym Enters 65 in Golden Gloves Tourney

Sixty-five more boxers were nominated yesterday for THE TRIBUNE's second annual amateur golden gloves boxing tourney to be held at the Coliseum from Feb. 20 to Feb. 23. They were the entry of George Kamberson, manager of the Lawndale gymnasium.

This is the first club entry and indicates the interest in the event. Winners and runners up will meet a New York team in an inter-city tourney in Madison Square Garden on March 27. All expenses of the Chicago squad will be paid, and an intensive entertainment program arranged for them in New York.

Hold Daily Drill.

"Our boxers are being given daily instruction by Charley Scully and Frank Taylor," Kamberson said in a letter accompanying the entries. "The boys are training every day and the instructions they receive should fit them for the tournament. I believe some of them are sure to win places on the Chicago team."

Managers of other club teams are holding weekly tryouts to determine makeups of their teams. The instructors realize it will be useless to send inexperienced boxers into the tourney and for this reason they intend to put their protégés through some stiff paces before making final entry.

Entries Close Feb. 14.

Although entries do not close until Feb. 14, individuals desiring to make entry are requested to clip the blank appearing on the sport pages and mail it as directed. Team entry can be made by classifying all boxers on one piece of paper which must be signed by an official of the club.

Amateur Boxing

Paul Colarek, Gary, Ind., welterweight, and Nick Fusco who will be the headliners of the amateur show to be held at White City tonight. Matchmaker Tom Ford has arranged seven other fights.

A series of eight bouts will be staged at Electricians' hall, Washington boulevard and Ogden avenue, tomorrow night. All proceeds will go to the St.
Francis Retreat league.

The weekly amateur boxing show tomorrow night at Eagles hall, 5245
West Madison street, will feature a boy who has become so apt at the boxing game that he is planning to turn professional. He is Jimmy Brook, a 138 pounder. He will take on Mike Kamis, a tough youngster who has given him several stiff battles already and won the decision in one of them.

Taylor Match for Winner of Sangor Fight

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Bud Taylor of Terra Haute, Ind., who was recognized as the world's bantamweight champion by the National Boxing association for three years, has been picked to meet the winner of the Tony Canzoneri-Joe San-gor ten round decision fight at the Coliseum next Wednesday night. Taylor and the victor of the Canzoneri-Sangor affair will clash on Feb. 26.

This announcement was made yesterday by Promoter James C. Mullen.
He also said the winner of the Feb.
26 fight will meet Tod Morgan in the Coliseum for the world's junior lightweight title in March.

Canzoneri Here Today.

Canzoneri will arrive in Chicago this morning. He will be accompanied by Manager Sammy Goldman and Trainer Lou Pink.

Sangor, who was knocked out by Armando Santiago of Cuba in two rounds and later won the newspaper decision over Tod Morgan, stepped two rounds yesterday with Al Greenfield and two with Morris Gransberg.

Santiago Meets Herrera.

Santiago, who stopped Sangor and later was knocked out by Canzoneri, semi-final fight with Tony Herrera

Monmouth Cagers Defeat Augustana College, 30-21

Rock Island, Ill., Jan. 30.—[Special.]
—Monmouth college spoiled the home record of the Augustana basketball team here tonight, winning by a 30 to 21 score. It was the first time this year the Vikings have been defeated on the home floor. Mohlen-brock, with five baskets, starred for Monmouth.

Chicago's Bruins showed powerful recuperative powers last night at Broadway Armory and for that reason they were able to smash through and swamp the New York Renaissance five, colored world's champions, 42 to 23.

More than 3,000 saw the local pro, outplayed and outspiced, snap back into the first half when the eastern-ers promised to carry away the ball game.

Shortly before the first session closed, the Bruins trailed, 18 to 9.
Then Wickhorst went into the lineup and he sparked up a lagging Chicago team. It wasn't long before Honey Russell went on parade and brought the score to 18-17. A New York ringer er shortly before the whistle blew enabled the champions to finish in front, 20 to 17.

Renaissance broke loose again when the second half got under way and baskets by Sanders and Rickers had the locals trailing, 24 to 17.

Then once again the Bruins, apparently on the way to defeat, dashed and passed through the New Yorkers. With Mark Harper displaying a powerful floor game and Hickey and Russell bagging field baskets, the Bruins ran up 18 points while the colored lads got a lone free throw.

From then on until the finish it was an easy matter to hold the visiting team which for a time had seemed unbeatable.

From then on until the finish it was an easy matter to hold the visit-

unbeatable.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.
Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.
No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.
Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.
Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective results. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

PLAN $450,000 STRUCTURE FOR KEDVALE CORNER

At Intersection of Irving Park Boulevard.

BY AL CHASE.

A six story building to cost a reported $450,000 is announced for the northeast corner of Irving Park boulevard and North Kedvale avenue as a result of the purchase of this property by the Ferguson Beesley building syndicate yesterday from the Fries Malwitz Motor company. The site fronts 122 feet on Irving Park boulevard and is 217 feet deep.

The proposed building will contain five or six stories on the first floor, offices on the second and apartments on the three upper stories. Work is scheduled to start before June 1st. Ralph H. Beesley & Co., were brokers and B. J. Joron was attorney.

Rogers Park Realty Men to Meet.
The annual meeting of the Rogers Park Real Estate board will be held this evening at the Rogers Park hotel. Transportation and civic improvement will be discussed by Alderman E. I. Frankhauser, Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, Clayton F. Smith, county recorder, George O. Fairweather, James P. Ward and David C. Malin.

O'Connor & Goldberg have entered into a ten year lease from March 15, 1929, with Samuel Holper for the corner store in the building at the northwest corner of Lawrence and Spaulding avenues. The lessees will open a shoe store there within two or three months. They will pay an annual rental of $8,000.

Englewood Deal.
Morris Z. Holland has purchased from J. King the 99 year leasehold estate on the premises at 6337 South Halsted street for an undisclosed consideration. The lease has 97 years to go. The term rental is a reported $41,125,000. An old stock stands on the land, which is 15x116 feet.

Mr. Holland owns the adjoining place on the north, also 15x116, improved with a two story building. It is stated Mr. Holland plans the eventual improvement of his property with a six story commercial structure. Carl & Ehrenhalt were brokers in the transaction.

The Interstate Trucking company has purchased from William P. Carroll the warehouse and garage property at 2250 South Lumber street for a price reported as approximately $50,000. The purchase was influenced by the switch track connections and by the straightening of the Chicago river. H. I. Hwang is president of the purchasing company, which operates trucks between Chicago and nearby cities.

COTTON PRICES LOWERED; SPOTS OFF 5 TO 10 POINTS
Cotton values were lowered on scattered liquidations, short selling, and selling by New Orleans in New York. At the same time the finish was well toward the top of the day for nearby deliveries and at about the inside for the new crop months.

News governing operations by traders was not at all inspiring to either side and the market was a tame affair, a feature being slowness in the spot cotton markets. Weather was unfavorable for field work and inspired a little covering by shorts on the break. Prices follow:

The Bond-Salesman's 1929
Keener competition and baffling excuses? Increasing sales resistance? A struggle to hold clients? OR Mastery of sales technique? Satisfying volume of new sales? Closer contact with present clients? Babson Institute believes that many bond salesmen who "got by" in 1928 will come to grief in 1929 unless they are better equipped to meet 1929 conditions.

Bond salesmen should investigate Babson Institute's Training in Investments and Security Selling not only because it gives a thorough training in the financial subjects necessary to successful security selling but also trains a man to intelligently discuss business conditions as affecting investments and the investment situation. This will be an important part of a man's equipment for selling securities in 1929.

H. R. Mallinson.

O. S. D.—Popularity of printed stock last year helped H. R. Mallinson & Co. to report profits before federal taxes of more than twice those of $1.64 for the year before.

After taxes, $4.03 a share is shown for the common stock in 1928. Results for the year are the best since the year ended Oct. 31, 1923. Business is said to be continuing at the high levels attained last year.

Some time ago the company reported that it was sold up fully for spring deliveries and was then taking orders for next fall. On this basis there is reason to expect a continued increase in earnings during the current year.

Net income after all charges, including federal tax reserves for 1928 was $918,836, as compared with $463,691 before federal tax reserves for 1927. After payment of preferred dividends there was a surplus of $306,788 for 1928 against $238,563 for 1927.

Profit and loss surplus stood at $4,029,756 at the end of 1928, comparing with $3,202,283 at the end of 1927. Current assets were $6,082,000 and current liabilities $2,526,591 at the end of 1928.

This left net working capital of $3,555,205, which compares with $3,004,361 at the close of 1927. The preferred stock deserves a good rating. No dividends have been paid on the common stock.

The common is a speculation at present. The company manufactures high grade silks known as "Mallinson Silks De Luxe."

DRY GOODS.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Cotton goods in 7c gray were quiet today. Some light business was done on fine gray cloths. Finishes, mostly chiefly prints, moved in moderate quantities. Raw silk was unchanged to firm. Silk prints were in demand. Burrows were steady and quiet. Interest in wool goods markets was centered in openings of overcoatings for fall. Many new constructions were displayed.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Prices were firm on the bourse today. Three per cent rentes, 72 1/2 francs. Five per cent rentes, 81 1/2 francs. Change on London, 111c. The dollar was quoted at 25 1/2 francs.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The net operating income of sixty-seven railroads for the month of December, 1928, totaled $75,221,000, an increase of 64.7 per cent over earnings of the same companies during December, 1927, when their income was only $45,688,000. The gross income for the same roads in December of last year was $458,456,000, compared with $390,539,000 in December, 1927, a gain of 9.7 per cent. On the basis of roads thus far reporting the net operating income for all class I railroads should approximate $92,750,000.

Brooklyn Union Gas company has reached the position where it may obtain new funds from the shareholders through an offering of new stock, and it is expected that the corporation will, at some time during the current year, announce new financing approximately $25,000,000. Brooklyn Union has about $25,000,000 net property investments which have not been capitalized.

The Nassau National bank of Brooklyn, a 70 year old financial institution, is planning to absorb the Granite National bank by an exchange of stock. Terms provide for the exchange of three shares of Nassau National common stock for five shares of Granite National common. The Nassau National will increase its capital from $1,500,000 to $1,680,000 to provide the additional stock. The combined institutions will have resources of more than $30,000,000.

The National City company is offering today 150,000 shares of six per cent cumulative preferred stock, series A, $50 par value, and 60,000 shares of no par value common stock of the United Aircraft and Transport corporation in units of 10 shares of preferred and four shares of common stock at a price of $1,000 per unit.

The 60,000 shares of common included in the offering will be purchased from individuals and thus do not represent any new financing. United Aircraft and Transport corporation is the name to be adopted by the Boeing Airplane and Transport corporation, recently organized under the banking auspices of the National City company and the Pacific National Bank of Seattle.

New stock and bond financing this week is nearing record proportions, with approximately $50,000,000 scheduled for offering tomorrow. An issue of $35,000,000 convertible 5 per cent bonds for the Van Sweringen brothers' new holding company—Allegheny corporation—heads the list.

Reliance Management corporation, a supervisory investment trust management company, is marketing a new issue of 200,000 shares of its no par common stock at $30 a share. The common stock will be junior to $5,000,000 of 5 per cent debentures.

Stock of National Industrial Bankers, Inc., a loan organization, is being offered in units of one common and one preference share, priced at $5 a unit. The offering totals 20,000 units.

Consolidated Aircraft corporation of Buffalo is offering through a New York banking house $2,175 no par common shares, priced at $25 a share.

Dependable as the Ceaseless Tides

Regularly, day by day, throughout eons of Time, the ebb and flow of the tides have troubled the waters of the seven seas; while, from the skies above, electricity hurled its bolts into their depths. Q The tides are still untamed. But man's ingenuity has harnessed the lightning and trained it, at the touch of a finger, to do his bidding.

Safety of principal and regularly received income are the first requisites of a good investment. The bonds of strong, well-managed Electric Power and Light Companies are desirable investments because they, like the power which is behind them, are dependable.

UNFAVORABLE GRAIN REPORTS ADVANCE PRICES

Ice Coating Hurts Winter Wheat Acreage.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Resumption and private commission house and local buying of wheat, based on government and private reports showing unfavorable conditions for the new winter wheat crop over the greater part of the belt, advanced prices yesterday, 2 1/2¢ over the finish of the previous day. The close was about the top, with March $1.24 1/2, May $1.27 1/2, and July $1.29 1/2.

Corn was affected by the action of wheat and gained 1/4¢ to $1.09 1/2, with March $1.09 1/2, May $1.09 1/2, and July $1.09 1/2.

Liverpool showed unexpected strength and closed 1/4¢ higher, while Winnipeg was inclined to drag and closed 1/4¢ higher, with exporters and the country selling July around $1.30. It was evident from the tone of

SYNOPSIS.
Hickory Hill has been the home of the Freers for generations. Cynthia Freer, a girl of family obligations and a promise to her mother never to leave her, strains to be free of the place and all it entails.
Dolly Freer, Cynthia's mother, meets the new assistant rector of St. Timothy's church in town and invites him to Hickory Hill to meet her family. Aunt Lizzie Freer, Dolly's mother-in-law, has been an invalid for twenty-five years, but she runs the family and its affairs from her bed.
Curtis Freer, daughter of Uncle Julius Freer, arrives at Hickory Hill with her twin sister, after separating from her husband, Dr. Peter Freer, in Paris.
Barney, Dolly's oldest son, is delighted at Claire's arrival and the cousins spend a great deal of time together. Barney is a wild youth, but the most popular of the Freer clan. Curtis Benson is invited to stay with the Freers in town for a few weeks, and Mrs. Herbert Freer gives a tea for him to which most of the fashionable set are invited. Dorothy Freer goes home early and Curtis Benson offers to drive Cynthia home in his little car. On the way they come upon two wrecked cars and are horrified to see Barney sitting by the roadside in a dazed condition. On coming to he tells Cynthia that Claire, who was with him, was rushed to a hospital along with the occupant of the other car. Cynthia sees Iser McGurk, Uncle Herbert's chauffeur, who had been her childhood playmate, lying unconscious near the car. When Iser recovers he is arrested as the driver of a speeding car. He is unable to remember just what preceded the accident. Curtis dies in the hospital that night and Barney is put to bed broken in spirit and very ill from exposure.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.
A DISTURBING NOTICE.

With grim determination she set herself to disillusioning Curtis, to deliberately undo the harm she had unwittingly done. She would no longer avoid him, but put herself in his way and give full play to the side of her character that she had been struggling so faithfully for his sake to suppress.
It proved a harder task than she thought. In the face of his unflinching kindness, his gentleness with Barney, his chivalry to her mother, and tact with Aunt Lizzie, she found her sharp speeches dying before they passed her lips. It was only when she would bring herself to look at him coldly and critically that she could say things to offend him. And every time she succeeded she cried half the night and came down to breakfast red of eyes but white of conscience.

Fortunately counter irritants were not lacking to take her mind off her own problems. The automobile accident seemed to involve endless consequences, besides Barney's illness. Uncle Julius, having made a continuous effort to drown his sorrow in drink, was now at Hickory Hill sobering up. Ethel, taking advantage of her mother's diverted attention, was making weekly excuses for staying in town over the week-end, and rumors were reaching Cynthia of her being constantly seen with the forbidden suitor, Bob Dillon. Worst of all, a cable had arrived from Capt. Kelsey saying that he had secured a four months' leave of absence and was coming to America to get his children.

This last catastrophe was the crowning one for Cynthia. Pip and Jerry would themselves into the fibers of her heart. No matter what trouble encompassed her she found an unflinching delight in the twins, and since Claire's death she had come to regard them as her very own. Their father was a stranger to them, an army officer, moving from one post to another. He would probably marry again, and the children might once more be at the mercy of some heedless, indifferent girl. The memory of the two forlorn, aimless babies that arrived at Hickory Hill six months before made her shiver. For once she agreed entirely with the family. A solid front must be presented to the enemy, and every possible effort must be made to keep Peter Kelsey from getting possession of the children. The news that he had already engaged a lawyer to investigate Captain Kelsey's past record, with the hope that he could be proved an untrustworthy guardian for his children. As soon as Barney was able to sit up, the disturbing notice arrived that Iser's trial before the grand jury had been set for December 15th and that Barney was summoned to appear as the chief witness. She hoped and prayed that he was right in regarding her father's grounds, but with the passing of each day her suspicions were more confirmed.

As the date crept closer, she was driven to resort once more to Curtis Benson. She would make him listen to all her arguments, and at least give him the matter the serious consideration it deserved. She hoped and prayed that he was right in regarding her father's grounds, but with the passing of each day her suspicions were more confirmed.

The next day when Curtis came Cynthia met him at the door.
"What train are you taking back to town?" she asked in a low tone.
"I want to go with you."
His face lit up with surprise and pleasure.
"The next one, if you say so."
"No," she whispered, "you must see Barney and mother and Aunt Lizzie, as usual. But if you can make the four-twenty, I'll be waiting down at the station."

A voice in the hall above her put her finger on her lips and slip into the parlor. She hated subterfuge and secrecy, but nothing could take place at Hickory Hill without discussion and explanations, and she was not in the mood for either.

At four o'clock she heard Curtis go down from Barney's room to Miss Lizzie's, heard her mother, after a lengthy colloquy with him at the top of the steps come down the hall toward her room. Before she could get her hat off, Dorothy appeared in the doorway flushed and smiling as she always was after being with Curtis.

"Why, Cynthia," she cried, "what are you going to town so late for?"
"Just an errand, Dolly."
"But you can't get back in time for supper, and you know how that annoys Miss Lizzie. Are you going to your Uncle Herbert's?"
"No."
"To Aunt Maria's?"
"No."
"Oh, it isn't anything about dear Ethel, is it?" in sudden alarm.
"No, no, mother. I wish you wouldn't be so fearful that something is going to happen."

"But something always is happening. I knew this morning when I broke my hand mirror that something would happen before night. You are sure it hasn't anything to do with Frederick?"
"Why, mother, Fred came home an hour ago. If you must know, it's something about Iser McGurk."

"O, dear, I wish you wouldn't get mixed up in that. Brother Herbert may make him take his punishment for the good of society. He's determined to prosecute to the full extent of the law. I am sorry for him, of course, but when I think of his driving that car when he was drunk, and causing poor Claire's death, and almost killing my Barney—"

"I've told you a dozen times, mother, that Iser has never taken anything to drink in his life," said Cynthia. "If he drove fifty miles an hour, I bet it was because Barney made him."

"I don't see how you can take that common, ignorant boy's part against your own brother," complained Dorothy. "Mr. Benson thinks he can remember much more than he pretends to."

"Mr. Benson doesn't know Iser when he sees him. He doesn't know how perfectly honest and reliable he is. It isn't fair for you to put the whole blame on him."

"Well, I should like to know whom else we could put it on!" cried her mother, indignantly. Then she turned her head to listen. "Why, that surely can't be Mr. Benson leaving so early. He must be looking for me," said with a little pleased laugh she ran to the mirror, dusted her nose with powder, plucked some color into her cheeks, and tripped lightly down to meet him.

Cynthia, feeling very secretive and unhappy, passed them as they stood in the front door, her mother begging him to stay, and he pleading an engagement.

"If you'll wait a moment, Miss Cynthia, I'll walk down to the station with you," he said, quite casually, as he got into the overcoat.
All the way down the hill path Cynthia was conscious of her mother's watchful eyes following them. Her determination hardened to keep the situation well in hand, and hold it strictly to the main issue.

Curtis' manner was already becoming dangerously personal. The tender pressure of his hand on her arm, the eager expectancy in his eyes, the softened tone of his voice all demanded prompt action on her part.
"I simply had to see you alone," she said when they were seated in the car. "There's something I must talk to you about."

Portugal Story

Plenty of Heroes for Use of Schools.

BY MANUEL LYRA.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LISBON, Jan. 30.—History takes a prominent part in the curriculum of Portuguese education. The deeds of great Portuguese navigators of earlier days take up a great deal of the time allotted to that study.
The educational period in Portugal falls between the ages of six and eight years, with the schools and private family instruction dividing the children between them.
The earliest stages of child education is, as in other countries, the kindergarten, such as the Joao de Deus kindergartens in Lisbon, but most children remain at home until six years of age. Then the primary schools receive them for four years. That period is obligatory. There are free public schools, but many of the well-to-do families prefer to send their children to the numerous private ones. Diplomas are dependent in all cases on examination given by a state board. Clives and handwriting are included in that training. The next schools are the Lycees, corresponding roughly to the last two or three grades of grammar school plus high school, a course of seven years.
Languages, geography, general history, and mathematics are the chief branches of instruction. Students who wish then go to the colleges and professional schools. Co-education is the general rule in the Portuguese Lycees. There are schools for girls only in Lisbon and Oporto, but mixed instruction has been found so satisfactory that the majority are of that type. The Lycees are of two types: Public and private schools as well as orphanages celebrate all national holidays.
Portuguese history goes back to a tribe called the Lusitanians, whose chief, Viriatus, after leading his people against the Roman invaders, was assassinated.
Portugal's second hero, in order of time, is Alfonso Henriques, in the 12th century, a Burgundian prince on his father's side and a Castilian prince on his mother's. At the age of 16, Alfonso Henriques repulsed the Moors, proclaimed Portugal independent, and was named the first king of the country. The king of Castile, who sought to possess the Portuguese kingdom from his dominions, was defeated and forced to recognize its independence.
In the subsequent wars by which Castile sought to regain Portugal the Portuguese heroes were Don Joao, head of the Order of Avis, who later became King Joao I, and Nuno Alvares Pereira. To the latter the children are taught to look up as the French children do to Joan of Arc. He is accorded many of the honors of sainthood.
The next step is into Portugal of the renaissance with Prince Henry, the great navigator, as a hero in the days when fearless explorers penetrated into new seas, passed along the coast of Africa, and founded the empire of Good Hope, made trips to India and to America. Other heroes were Vasco da Gama, discoverer of the sea route to India; Pedro Alvares Cabral, discoverer of Brazil; and Fernando de Magellan, first circumnavigator of the world and discoverer of the strait which bears his name.
Part of subsequent world history is the "line of demarcation" by which papal decrees gave lands with certain location to Spain and others to Portugal, both of which nations got a footing in the "new world," long before any other nations. These discoveries and colonizations bore results in wealth until well into the 19th century, when the South American republics were formed.
The early Portuguese discoveries on the western hemisphere were followed by men who made conquests of the new lands—Alfonso de Albuquerque, Don Joao de Castro, Don Francisco de Almeida, and Duarte Pacheco. The school children of Portugal know by heart the stories of the exploits of these heroes as well as of others concerned in the restoration, the Napoleonic invasion, the long link between Great Britain and Portugal in European affairs, the colonial wars in Africa, and the artistic and scientific life of the country, such as Filipa de Vilhena, Marquis de Pombal, Luis de Camones, Camara Pestana, Gago Coutinho and many others.
In modern times, the emphasis in teaching is about the revolution that removed King Manuel of Braganza and on the names of the men responsible for the foundation in 1910 of the present Portuguese republic.

AERIAL BRIDGE PARTY,
5,000 FEET ABOVE
MIAMI, LATEST FAD

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. James N. Gilman of Miami gave a bridge party today—one mile above Miami.

The Gilmans and six guests took off at noon in a trimotored transport plane and soared over Miami at 5,000 feet altitude as they dealt the cards and made their bids. Tea was served to the two tables as the big plane circled lazily over the city and surrounding country.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Allen of New York; Mr. and Mrs. William McKenna of Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. James Platt of Dayton, O. J. E. Walter, general manager of J. & Co. John T. McQuibben, Tribune cartoonist, was guest of honor among the 200 Purdue alumni at the luncheon in celebration of the Hoosier salon in the art galleries of Marshall Field & Co. John T. McQuibben, Tribune cartoonist, was guest of honor among the 200 Purdue alumni at the luncheon. Other attending were Robert Grafton, portrait painter, and George Ade, Indiana humorist.

Says Engineer of the Future
Should Thrill to Art

The engineer of the future who lacks an appreciation of art will be relegated to the background, declared J. E. Walter, general manager of the Purdue university memorial union at a luncheon of Purdue alumni yesterday in the art galleries of Marshall Field & Co. John T. McQuibben, Tribune cartoonist, was guest of honor among the 200 Purdue alumni at the luncheon. Other attending were Robert Grafton, portrait painter, and George Ade, Indiana humorist.

BEG YOUR PARDON

THE TRIBUNE is in receipt of a letter from H. P. Belme of Quincy, Ill., regarding a story about the famous crusaders' bull in favor of the faithful in Spain.

"In today's Sunday issue I note the following as part of an article: 'The money which was collected, as a result of favors, spiritual and temporal, granted by the bull, and also for indulgences.' That has a sinister ring. Money is not collected for indulgences in the Catholic church. I am not unkindly that abuses crept in in some of the centuries past, but the church as such did all she could to stop such abuses. In proof of this, St. Pius V., pope in 1567, canceled all grants of indulgences involving any fee or other financial transaction. Money, as this article seems to imply, cannot buy an indulgence, and as a Catholic lay reader of your paper I take exception to the implication the article carries."

In an item yesterday THE TRIBUNE stated that a new Episcopal convent is to be built at 25th street and Keeler avenue. It is not an Episcopal convent but a Catholic convent which will be constructed.

Victor Prahl Leaves
as Pianist, Returns, Praised as Singer
BY EDWARD MOORE.

When Victor Prahl went away from Chicago some little time ago, Earl Victor Prahl he was then, if memory and information are correct, he was a pianist. When he came back to Kimball hall last night, he was a singer, and a highly commendable one.

During his absence he developed a baritone voice with quality, power enough to be acceptable in any concert hall, and an inspiring buoyancy of manner. He would seem to be both a musician and a person of high spirits, for he presented a program which, while brief, contained an uncommon number of good, unusual songs, and sang them in a most exhilarating way.

In fact, he gave a first class example of how not to construct and how not to perform a conventional program, and such things are refreshing in midseason. As a gesture toward the audience, he sang numbers by Peri, Cavalli, and three others by Purcell. Then passing at once to the moderns, he introduced "Sexte Chanson Populaire," by Manuel de Falla; "Four Negro Songs," by John Alden Carpenter, and "Six Poems Lyriques," by Jacques Pilois.

The list sounds a bit arithmetical, but it was really in a high degree entertaining and varied. And he sang them not only like a person rejoicing in a good voice well under control, but like a musician interested in effects of color and rhythm as well as voice. Troy Sanders assisted with wise and vital accompaniments.

The Question.
Should our navy be as large as that of Great Britain?

The Answers.

William E. Brenneck, 4157 Cullom avenue, credit man—
In size, we are a larger country than England, and we are fifty years ahead of England in general progress. America is being called upon by European nations to help fight their battles. There are many reasons why we should have a large navy, and there are no sound reasons why we should not have one.

Mrs. E. M. Thomas, Mattison, Ill. housewife—I should think so, every bit as large. We are a much wealthier nation, and can better afford a completely protecting navy. We are not only a greater nation than England, but we are more energetic, more progressive, and everything else. The navy is the first and foremost bulwark for this country's protection.

E. A. Raymond, 1257 Norwood avenue, credits—Larger. They ought to put the women out of congress and get men in there who have foresight and backbone. Military credits never yet prevented a war, nor being in it, won a war. With a fully equipped invincible navy, secured by a strong army, we need but say a word or express an opinion and Europe would abide by it, without the loss of a life or the firing of a gun.

Miss Ella A. Brown, 4537 Dover street, home girl—Certainly larger. Experience is a wise teacher, and we have learned one lesson through our unpreparedness. Let's not make the same mistake twice. We want to be ready for any emergency.

Paul Saunders, 1138 West 161st street, real estate—Most certainly, twice as large. If we had and continued to maintain a navy that could not be beaten, there would be no more wars, as far as we are concerned.

Most certainly, twice as large. If we had and continued to maintain a navy that could not be beaten, there would be no more wars, as far as we are concerned.

THEATER

ONSDALE's comedy named "The High Road" is bulletined for February 18 in the Blackstone, meaning that the 18th will mark the end there of "The Bachelor Father," which is so popular that Mr. Powers has been trying to induce Mr. Belasco to extend the visit. . . . As to "The High Road," it was among the few plays of the Autumn in New York held to be successful at the box office. Miss Edna Best and Herbert Marshall, who were in Chicago with Cyril Maude in the bad comedy named "The Charming People," head the cast of the incoming play.

"Coquette" also is bulletined for removal the 18th; and nothing in succession is yet announced for the Selwyn. . . . Miss Helen Hayes' acting in this piece is so good that I am surprised the attendance has not warranted a longer engagement. The play itself, has its positive merits, and her support is well-nigh perfect.

The date for "Lizard Gap" in the Goodman Memorial is at length announced for the 11th. The management's description of the piece is "farce-comedy of the Southwest oil fields," and this brings back to print the location "farm comedy," which is what the late Charles H. Hoyt called his plays with songs and dances in them.

"Skidding" on view in New York for months and months, is indicated for the 11th in the Studebaker, following the actors from Stratford-upon-Avon.

"Dracula," the dramatization of the late Bram Stoker's well-known shiver tale, is tentatively listed for late in March in the Blackstone.

Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner will give her final recital for the season Sunday afternoon, when her bill will include two new sketches, "Spring Evening" and "Aftermath," with two that have not been given in any of her three previous recitals this season in the Sherry-Netherland. "Spring Evening" is a new sketch, and "The Calais-Paris Express." Repetitions will be "Monte Carlo," "The Eve of Departure," "Home-Work," and "Sailing-Time."

Reports indicate high prosperity for some of the new shows in Chicago. "Music in May" seems to have caught on in the Great Northern; there is increasing attendance for "Luckies Girl," which was put on recently as last Sunday into the Majestic; Miss Mae West is said to be reaping the due rewards for her nerve in the 1928 dress alone; "The Apollo," "Rosalie" is the expected success in the Illinois; and there are large audiences for "Hello, Yourself!"—thanks largely to the jass-band in the Grand Opera House.

The Treasurer's Club of Chicago—that is what the ladies and the lady who sell seats for the theatre call themselves in their socio-philanthropic unity—will give their annual dance Saturday night in the big ballroom of the Palmer House. This is, I believe, the tenth of these functions; and they have been of increasing vogue and profit, I am told. There is the customary promise of attendance by all the somebodies and the well-knowns now in performance here; and there is the added information that the number of tickets sold has been limited. As, although these box-office employees have permitted themselves to be unlicensed since they gave their last dance, I have no doubt that they are as individuals now what they have always been, and that they continue to do their best in circumstances that are trying beyond the ready understanding of those who buy the seats. I wish for the success in all ways of their tenth dance!

Basil Rathbone's adventure as an author-star will, after less than a fortnight in New York, end Saturday night, when the play, "Judas," will be withdrawn as a hopeless flop.

A London cablegram transcribed in this place a week ago said that Maurice Browne, a whilom Chicagoan, was the author of "Journey's End," described as a London success. The cablegram was inaccurate. The play is by R. C. Sherriff. Mr. Browne, who is gone in for management in London, is the producer, although the play was made known there last month in some "private" performances.

The Misses Duncan, back from their misadventures in Europe, are management, are to appear next week in the Midnight Frolic, the roof-show where-with Mr. Ziegfeld helps to mitigate existence in New York.

A. H. Woods says he will not give Guilty's play about Lindbergh in this country because Colonel Lindbergh "objects to having his name associated with a show."

Ben Franklin
Lauded for His Aid to Doctors

Infant Welfare Society
Hears the Story.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Benjamin Franklin, who was neither medical practitioner, physician, nor graduate of medical school, was lauded as a great benefactor, friend and substantial contributor to science and the art of medicine yesterday by Dr. Isaac A. Abt. Dr. Abt is an international authority on diseases of children. He spoke at the annual meeting of the Infant Welfare society in the Stevens hotel.

"If Benjamin Franklin, born 222 years ago, had devoted his surpassing genius exclusively to medicine, we would have expected from him a striking contribution which would have materially advanced the science and art of medicine of his period," Dr. Abt declared. "He not only had the instincts of a hygienist, but was a student of population, and apparently believed that the future of the colonies depended on the number and quality as well as the health of the people."

Among the evidences of Franklin's interest in medical science pointed out by Dr. Abt, were his observations on lead poisoning, his interest in inoculation against smallpox, his interest in dietetics, medical electricity, drugs and methods of cure, his discussions of physiology and anatomy, the treatment of cancer, his invention of bifocal spectacles, and his belief in fresh air.

The Infant Welfare society last year cared for 1,611 mothers and babies, at a cost of $137,700. It was disclosed in the annual report of the children, more than 11,700 were infants and over 2,000, while older, were less than 8 years, the school age.

The epidemic—the return of the almost forgotten "summer sickness"—and an enormous increase in pneumonia and other respiratory diseases—were responsible for the increase in the 1928 death rate among the infants aided by the society, according to Dr. Abt.

"The net result of this occurrence was to raise our mortality rate to 1.3 per cent, an increase of 0.4 over 1927, an unusually healthy year," he said in his report. "When the total number of infants and children affected is considered, the total mortality is surprisingly small. In many of our stations practically all the infants registered had one of the respiratory infections."

The society operates 23 stations in the poorest districts of Chicago. Mothers may go to those stations to consult obstetricians before birth of their babies, and where they bring the children until six years of age. Fifty-four nurses and dietitians visit the homes to teach the mothers how to follow instructions received at the stations. On the society's staff also are 23 physicians. The work is maintained principally by funds raised by the woman's auxiliary of which Mrs. Eugene S. Talbot is president.

Lucius Teier, who has been president of the organization 10 years, resigned and was elected chairman of the board of directors. In recognition of the 18 years of service he has given to the society, the board presented him with a silver loving cup filled with flowers. The officers elected include Philip D. Armour, president; Lynn Williams, first vice president; Mrs. Winona Augur, second vice president; Mrs. Erskine Wilder, secretary, and Earle H. Reynolds, treasurer. New members of the board of directors include W. E. Clow Jr., A. B. Dick Jr., Thorne Donnelly, Donald R. Douglas, and James R. Leavelle.

These Suggestions May Make Bedtime a Simpler Occasion

Mrs. Bevana has prepared two booklets, one on "Prayers and Graces for Children" and another titled "Books to be Read to the Children or by Them" which will be sent free on receipt of stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Something more about the babies' and children's bed coverings. These should be light in weight. The quilts or blankets that seem warm because they're heavy are not good for a child to sleep under because of this very weight and, incidentally, they are not very warm. Several light weight coverings are better—or two light woolen blankets with one light cotton blanket to tuck over the whole thing. Children frequently need more covering over their feet than they do over the upper part of their bodies, and in the winter they are apt to get cold toward morning, so an extra blanket is often necessary over the lower half of the bed when you fix them the last thing at night before you go to bed yourself.

Although it is not the approved procedure to have a child protected from every noise during sleep, it is soothing and pleasant for him to go to sleep in a cool, quiet room, and a dark one, unless he is passing through some temporary difficulty with fear of darkness. A normal child goes to sleep easily, though the quickness with which he drops off may vary—vary according to the individual child and according to the state he is in when he goes to bed. Too great mental activity just before bed is not conducive to sleep—physical activity is much better for a normal child. But I think one of the greatest factors in making children wakeful is fatigue. A child who has had plenty of exercise and outdoors and who is just hesitantly tired will not be tossing in bed. An overtired child often will.

Where this overfatigue unavoidably occurs and a child thrashes and tosses and becomes hot and wider awake every minute, a very simple measure will prove very effective. Run a deep bath at just blood heat, that is, with no feeling of either warmth or cold—the old elbow-dip is a good test—and get your child out of bed and into it. Let him lie back in it for a few minutes and don't scrub him. Bathe his face with a soft cloth.

Then let him step out, rub him down gently, pat him with a little powder, slip on his nightgown, and tuck him into a freshened smooth bed. In a jiffy he'll be off.

Why Let Early and Unhappy Experience Act as Life-Hoodoo?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I'd like to meet a nice man so I could have a home of my own. I am a musician, can cook, sew, keep house, and have been around and met people, so I have acquired some of the social graces. My one drawback is that when I was in my teens I foolishly eloped with a schoolmate of my own age. The marriage was annulled at once, but I have always regretted the elopement. It has been such a hoodoo with me ever since."

"But don't you think a square shooting man wouldn't hold it against me that I was so silly in my teens? Should I keep it a secret from men?"

One way to rout the hoodoo is to quit recognizing it. Snub it out of your life. Forget about it, as early mistakes must be forgotten if you expect to go on and make something of your life. It was unfortunate that you played at marriage so lightly. But then the annulment wipes that out legally, and now you have stopped thinking of the experience as an evil genie that's going to spoil the rest of your life.

As for keeping the early marriage secret, it is not necessary to go 'round shouting it from the housetops. Of course, should you meet a man who seems to be getting involved with your charms, it would be wise to tell him of that early marriage. If he cares and is an understanding sort of soul, he will look upon it as one of those follies of which youth is capable, and let it go at that. But if you were to keep it secret and he found it out from some other source, he might think of you as a deceptive person. Honesty is always a better policy than secrecy. Marriages are just things that won't stay hidden in the closet. I know of a case in which the young wife neglected to mention an early marriage, and though it was annulled according to legal rote, the husband never forgave what he termed the grossest sort of deception. The girl's mother was the unwise adviser. She was who urged her daughter not to disclose the early marriage incident. The girl is back on her mother's hands now, although the break did not follow immediately on the heels of the discovery.

About two years elapsed, but during that two years the girl was forced time and again to listen to being told that the truth wasn't in her.

The Tunic Frock Is as Good as Ever

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Please keep in tunic with the universe. Indeed, the whole universe is wearing them—these tunic frocks. They don't keep any particular office hours, either. They are just as likely to work in the daytime as in the evening, and to appear in the surf as at the Ritz.

Today we show an afternoon frock pointing once again to this familiar truth. It is eloquent of something else, too. It shows the way the two tone idea is advancing upon us and how frequently these two tones are developed in satin back crepe.

In this case the over garment is of this material in that tint which is taking possession of all our most fashionable haunts—even our bathing beaches. It is chaste, now this tone is at its very best when combined with black, and so we find here that the underlip is of black. For this foundation the lustrous side of the material is employed to contrast with the crepe surface used for the tunic and blouse. Pippings of the black satin set off neckline and skirt.

Aside from satin back crepe we find perhaps the most emphatic accent of fashion in restaurant frocks placed upon models of flat crepe. This fabric, together with all its dull kindred, is being exploited as never before. You may have it in all tones, but too much can never be said anent the vogue of the entire beige, tan and brown range.

Some of these smart crepes which one notes today have the even hemline. Others are diversified by pronounced dipping folds either at the side or back.

Sitting Pretty Is What a Lot of Gals Can't Seem to Manage

BY HENRY.

Sitting pretty is one of the trying occupations of the present moment. What with trying to keep the skirt down over the knees and keeping the legs from being too obvious, woman has a fidgety time of it. She jumps up to give the skirt a tug. And down she goes, falling at once into the old uneasy frame of mind. A lot of good poise is wasted.

Sitting pretty calls for poise. Woman, at no time, is under quite such minute observation as when she sits. It is the time when she may parade her charms to their greatest advantage. But how many women in a group have that sure confidence that all is well with themselves when they sit? Not the proverbial four out of five.

What inspired this little dissertation was the comment about an actress whose way of sitting impressed several women attending a recent matinee. Her skirts were as short as the average woman's. It was reported, but she sat without fussing and her rather long legs remained unobscured, resting lightly on heel and toe almost directly in front of her and without protruding out into the room. The quiet of her pose was what impressed.

The length of the skirt doesn't make as much difference, really, as its width. If it is short and tight it is almost impossible to sit in a low, deep chair or couch without a consciousness that knees are being unduly displayed. If there's fullness in the skirt, grace may be more easily managed.

Until Dame Fashion decrees a change in length and width of skirt, women will keep on fussing and worrying as they sit. But, at least, they may help along their own cause of grace by giving a bit of study to their way of holding feet and legs.

There's an awkward position of the feet I have observed on women usually run to plumpness, for some reason. They rest their feet on their heels, leaving the soles exposed to full view. Then a number of women who ought to know better sit with their knees spread apart. A short skirt added to this pose makes it incredibly ugly to look at.

Being so definitely on view and for the protracted periods involved, a study before a full length mirror of how one sits is recommended as the best means of improvement after one has observed carefully a perfect model whose sitting style deserves to be copied.
